REMOVAL OF MAYOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

...ELLA, Nov. 22.—Blacklisting ... so far as any visits other than purely official ones are concerned of the 36,000 officers and men of Camp Lewis by Maj.-Gen. Greene, commanding, a charge by Mayor H. J. Gill that in issuing the order Gen. Greene is grossly discriminating against this city and an emphatic declaration by Austin E. Griffiths, president of the Municipal League, that both Mayor Gill and his Chief of Police, Charles Beckingham, should be instantly removed by the people of Seattle, were rapidly succeeding developments this afternoon in connection with the long existing threat of Gen. Greene to stop all his soldiers from visiting Seattle if the city were not cleaned up immediately to his satisfaction.

The order, posted at Camp Lewis headquarters shortly after noon by Gen. Greene, "forbids all officers and enlisted men of this command to visit the city of Seattle unless upon duty, under orders from competent military authority, or upon separate, sufficient and specific permission in writing."

Mayor Gill commented upon the order as follows:

"I do not feel inclined at this time to engage in any controversy with the commander of Camp Lewis on any opinion or policy of his regarding Seattle."

The Mayor added that although the general was purely within the rights in prohibiting the men of his command from visiting Seattle or elsewhere, or where their welfare may be endangered, he said the order issued by Gen. Greene was "grossly discriminative."

The Mayor took the stand that if Seattle is quarantined, Tacoma should also be.

"I doubt whether any statement from me would help the situation any and I am reluctant to make it, but Gen. Greene's order indicates that the condition is a very serious one."

Austin E. Griffiths, president of the Municipal League, said:

Bache-Denman Syndicate is Entitled to Six Hundred Thousand Dollars.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FORT SMITH (Ark.) Nov. 22.—The jury in the suit of the Bache-Denman syndicate against the United Mine Workers and others this afternoon returned a verdict in the Federal Court awarding plaintiffs damages in the sum of $200,000. Under the Sherman act plaintiffs are entitled to three times this amount or $600,000.

The plaintiffs sued for $2,250,000, alleging their properties had been damaged to that amount by the acts of violence of the union miners at their Prairie Creek mines in Sebastian county in July, 1914, following the attempt of the mine operators to work their mines with nonunion men.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The United Mine Workers of America will begin immediate preparations for taking to the higher courts the case decided at Fort Smith, in the Federal Court there, awarding $200,000 damages to the Bache-Denman syndicate, it was said at the mine workers' headquarters here today. The questions involved in the suit are of vital interest to all union labor, probably as much so as the Danbury Hatters case and the question of carrying the fight to the higher courts probably will be laid before the American Federation of Labor by Frank Hayes, president, and William Greene, secretary of mine workers, who now are in Buffalo, it was said.

PETROGRAD, Wednesday, Nov. 21.—Electoral lists for the Constituent Assembly are being distributed today by the town council. There are nineteen parties, including, besides the various shades of Socialist and Constitutional Democrats, the "council of Cossack troops" headed by Gen. Kaledines; the "party of the union of Christian Democrats;" the "all Russian League of Equal Rights for Women," "The Women's Union of aid for the Country" and "The United Orthodox Parishes of Petrograd."

Nikolai Lenine, Premier of the Bolsheviki Cabinet, has proclaimed all newspaper advertisements to be the property of the state and allows them to be printed only in the publications of the provisional workmen's and peasants' government or of the local council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates.

GERMAN SOLDIERS' ATTITUDE WEAKENS.

DIARIES OF PRISONERS SHOW RESERVES NOT PLEASED AT FIELD SERVICE.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 7.—Illustrations of the changing attitude of many German soldiers toward the war are contained in captured diaries. Describing the departure of draft men from a depot town the author of one diary writes:

"First battalion is to supply draft of ninety-nine men. To conduct them to —— station, 300 men are detailed, some with rifles to escort draft, others to act as pickets. Is it not a scandal that our boys in field gray are led out into the field to fight and give their lives for the Fatherland like criminals to the hangman, or worse, like cattle to the slaughter."

Another diary related how the men of the company refused to obey the orders of their lieutenant and only did so when the captain declared he would have one man in every four shot unless the orders were obeyed.

FEAR OF LYNCH LAW OBSESSES ANARCHISTS.

Lenine and Krylenko Warn Soldiers not to Let Insurgent Generals Destroy "Great Work of Peace."

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD (via London, Nov. 22.—(British Admiralty and Wireless Press.) Nikolai Lenine and Ensign N. Krylenko, commander-in-chief of the new People's commissionaries of war, have issued a proclamation to the army and navy. The proclamation says:

"On Tuesday Gen. Dukhonin was ordered to offer an armistice to all nations, Allied and hostile.

"The message was received at headquarters Wednesday and Gen. Dukhonin was instructed to keep the People's Commissaries continually informed as to the progress of the pour parlers and only to sign an agreement for an armistice after sanction by the commissaries had been received. Having received no answer from Dukhonin by Wednesday evening, Dukhonin was asked the reason for his delay. He attempted many times to evade giving an explanation and a clear answer to orders. When a categorical order was sent instructing him to offer, immediately and formally, an armistice for the purpose of commencing peace pour parlers he refused to obey.

"Gen. Dukhonin has been informed that he has been deposed from his functions for disobeying the government, and for conduct which is bringing unheard-of suffering to all the warring masses and to all the country, especially to the armies. He has been ordered to continue his duties until the new commander-in-chief or any other person authorized by him, arrives to take command. Ensign Krylenko has been appointed the new commander-in-chief."

WARNING.

The proclamation urges the soldiers not to allow revolutionary generals to destroy the great work of peace. It says they must guard them well, so that lynch law cannot be used against them, and so that the generals cannot evade imminent justice.

The proclamation adds that the soldiers must observe the strongest revolutionary and military discipline.

Regiments on frontal positions must elect immediately plenipotentiaries to begin formally peace pour parlers and on the progress of these they must inform the commissaries by all possible means. Only the council of commissaries has the right to sign a final agreement for an armistice.

MAN-POWER WILL WIN WAR, SAYS CROWDER

Provost Marshal General Urges Need of Effective Fighting Machine.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Man-power exerted on the field of France will bring victory in this war, Provost-Marshal-General Crowder declared in a statement of the aims, accomplishments and future of the selective draft system addressed to members of the local boards and made public here tonight. After reviewing present conditions and necessities, Gen. Crowder predicted that the selective system would become a permanent part of America's governmental system of war.

Every precaution possible has been taken with the new draft regulations, Gen. Crowder said, to conserve economic interests, but the paramount duty of the country is to raise an effective fighting force.

"We are committed to this war," the general continued, "and we ought to fight it in the most effective fashion possible to us. The necessity of raising an army is paramount. The decrease in the labor supply must be adjusted in some way other than by shutting off recruiting. That it can be adjusted, there is no question. The problem is not to maintain the labor supply of agriculture and every industry intact. It is to make withdrawal of

PROTEST AGAINST RECENT ATTACKS HANDED STATE DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Belgian Minister today handed to the State Department a protest of the Belgian government against the bombing of Belgian sanitary units at Calais and Petit Fort Philippe and the military hospital at the Gravelines Gateway by German airplanes September 26 and 27. Several casualties resulted from bombs dropped on the hospital.

The protest points out that Germany was one of the nations signing the Geneva convention for the amelioration of the conditions of the wounded and sick of the armies in the field, of July 6, 1906, calls attention to the fact that the Red Cross emblems were conspicuously displayed on the sanitary units and hospital bombed and continues:

"The King's government enters a solemn protest against the systematic bombardment of Belgian sanitary formations by German airplanes.

"It denounces this new and flagrant violation of international law to the International Committee of the Red Cross and to the Allied and neutral governments which have signed the Geneva international convention of July 6, 1906."

BATTLING THEIR WAY FORWARD TO RHINE.

Immense Wedge of Allies, with Cambrai at Apex, Gradually Widens Against the Germans.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The British official communication issued this evening announces the successful consolidation of all the captured area in the region of Cambrai, except the village of Fontaine Notre Dame, which has been recaptured by the Germans in a counter-attack.

The text of the communication follows:

"On the southern battle front the day has been spent in consolidating the large area over which our troops advanced during the last two days. This has been successfully carried out except at Fontaine Notre Dame, which the enemy has retaken by a counter-attack.

"Much credit is due to the transportation service for the rapidity with which the concentration was effected.

"On the northern battle front the artillery activity was intense in the neighborhood of Passchendaele, but no infantry action was developed by either side."

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The six-mile wedge driven into the German defenses in the British offensive on the Arras-St. Quentin front is penetrating still deeper and spreading out, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France telegraphs today. On some stretches of the front the British troops have broken into the enemy's final defense line. All the German counter-attacks have been repulsed, all the British gains are being held.

The prisoners taken in the advance now number more than 8000, the correspondent reports.

BATTLING FORWARD.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 22.—The British this morning were battling their way forward less than three miles west of Cambrai after breaking into the enemy's last defense line at Anneux and Cantaing yesterday. They were drawing in on Bourlon wood, which dominated the entire section, including Cambrai.

British cavalry, tanks and infantry were today operating along a line running from west of Cambrai to the south of that town.

Meanwhile the offensive has been successfully prosecuted on the left and in the region of Bullecourt the German line had been pushed back considerably, thereby widening the salient which the British have driven into the enemy territory to the south and southwest of Cambrai. The attack around Bullecourt was a complete success, and something like 700 prisoners were captured here.

Sanguinary hand-to-hand fighting has taken place at many points. During the night three German counter-attacks in Noyelles and Rumilly were beaten off, and another thrust by the enemy near Bullecourt was smashed.

The number of prisoners is increasing steadily. More than 8000 were in the hands of the British last night, and large contingents have been coming back during the early morning hours.

This morning the cavalry, tanks and infantry at many points west and south of Cambrai were less than three miles from the outskirts of the town.

GERMAN REPORTS.

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (via London.)—The battle southwest of Cambrai is continuing German headquarters announced today. The enemy, the statement declares, did not succeed in breaking through, though he gained a little ground beyond the German front line. The statement says several British tanks have been shot to pieces.

The German statement says that on the western bank of the Scheldt the Germans drove back the British to Anneux and Fontaine, and that on the east bank of the river the British were forced back into their former positions south of Rumilly.

The text of the German statement reads:

"The battle southwest of Cambrai continues. By the massed use of tanks and infantry, and by launching his cavalry, the enemy sought to effect a break through, which was denied him on the first day's attack. He did not succeed in his objective. Although he was able to gain a little ground beyond our front lines, he was not able to attain greater successes.

"The enemy troops, which were effectively caught by the fire of our artillery and machine guns and greatly thinned, encountered the counter-thrust of our brave infantry.

"On the western bank of the Scheldt, our troops drove back the enemy to Anneux and Fontaine, and on the eastern bank to his positions of departure south of Rumilly.

"Before and behind our line, distributed over the whole battlefield, lie the wreckage of tanks which have been shot to pieces. Our aviators and motor guns took a prominent part in their destruction.

"At nightfall, fighting activity on the battlefield diminished. South of Vendhuile, the enemy did not repeat his attacks.

"Western theater: Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht: In Flanders the artillery duel increased in violence in the evening between Poelcapelle and Passchendaele. Thrusts by British detachments north of Lens and south of the Scarpe were repulsed.

"There was a strong increase in the firing yesterday morning near Riencourt, it was followed only by minor British attacks which collapsed under our fire.

"A strong French detachment, which penetrated our line south of St. Quentin, was thrown out in a counter thrust.

"Front of the German Crown Prince: In connection with the British attack, the French also began strong thrusts against our positions between Craonne and Berry au Bac. Violent firing continued throughout the day. Northeast of the Ville au Bois, a French nest remained. In other sectors the enemy was repulsed by our fire and at points where he had penetrated, was driven back in hand-to-hand fighting. Enterprises by our troops were successful and prisoners were brought in.

"Italian front: Tyrolese imperial riflemen and Wurttemburger troops have taken by storm the summits of Monte Fontana and Monte Spinuccia between the Brenta and the Piave Rivers."

BRITISH ADVANCE SIX MILES ON WEST FRONT.

Allied Casualties Fewer Than Prisoners Taken in Latest Offensive.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The British casualties in the advance toward Cambrai are reported to be very considerably less than the number of prisoners taken, it was announced today by Maj.-Gen. F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the War Office.

The latest British official estimate of prisoners taken give the number as more than 8000.

The British, said Gen. Maurice, had advanced to a depth of six and a half miles at the farthest point on a front of ten miles, which was a record advance in twenty-four hours on the western front, and was farther than the progress made during three months' fighting at Ypres.

The victory at Cambrai, Gen. Maurice continued, was the direct result of the fighting at Ypres and therefore the men who fought at Ypres deserved equal credit for the Cambrai success.

The Italian situation, the general added, was more satisfactory than a week ago, but it was premature to say Venice was safe.

Gen. Maurice announced that the operations in Palestine near Jerusalem were continuing with complete success. The British troops were still six miles distant from Jerusalem, fighting in the hills of Judea, he said, and it would be unwise to make any anticipatory statement regarding the fall of the city.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Discussions are in progress with the United States government, with the object of acquisition by it of the silver produced in the United States, a portion of which would be placed at the disposal of the government of India, largely to pay for Indian produce required in America, it was announced in the House of Commons today. The announcement was made by Stanley Baldwin, financial secretary to the treasury, in reply to a question.

Dreadful Evidence of the Intensity of the Fighting Along the Northern Italian Front

Horrors of War.

TRENCHES ARE CRAMMED WITH AUSTRIAN CORPSES.

Bodies of the Dead Half Covered with Snow—Armies are Shifting Too Rapidly to Bury Victims.

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY, Wednesday, Nov. 21.—An officer accompanied by a civilian observer has arrived here from the northern fighting front, where they have been watching the operations just to the west of the point of the enemy's mass attacks. The center of this section is along the Brenta River, leading to the large city of Bassano, and thence widening, fan-shaped, into the Venetian plains. The observers were so close to the fighting line that they narrowly escaped falling into the hands of the enemy.

Fighting ground gave dreadful evidence of the intensity of the struggle during the last few days. The positions and trenches lately occupied by the Austrians were strewn with bodies which lay half covered with snow, as it was impossible to bury the slain because of the rapid shifting of both lines.

The most desperate fighting was around Monte Mollota, where the Italians hold one side of the eminence and the Austro-German forces the other. The enemy's object was to advance through the two valleys of Frenzela and Valstagna, which open directly into Bassano and the plains. The statement of this design is not based on conjecture, but is disclosed in its full details in the Austrian plan of attack, taken from the bodies of Austrian officers left on the field. These plans give precise directions of the hour and minute at which the advance along those two valleys to Bassano shall be carried out, as though the enemy believed no doubt existed of his successful advance.

But at this point the enemy calculations proved wide of their mark, as the Italians not only held the valley passes to the plains, but drove the enemy back at the point of the bayonet, first from the trenches and then from the improvised breastworks, until this tract was marked by a great swath of dead and wounded.

It seemed as if the Italians were suddenly imbued with tenfold courage to save their country and individual cases of bravery stand out amid the general heroism. At one point a contingent of thirty Italians left a shelter and hewed their way through the lines, bringing back twenty-seven prisoners. Such instances were not isolated, but general, until the main lines of the enemy were driven back to the woods on the upper slopes of Monte Melleta.

The whole range of this fighting ground presented a scene of frigid desolation, showing the rigors of the winter campaign now in full operation. Snow lay six inches deep along the slope and drifted in places to a depth of five feet.

The Italians are suffering great hardships with fortitude in their battle to keep back the invaders. The observer found men huddled in caverns and caves from which hung huge icicles. Many were absolutely worn out by their super-efforts and slept on the ground in blankets with ice all about them and drifted snow without.

Rations are served once daily, but with extreme difficulty in the midst of such a whirlwind of action.

But with all these rigors and bloody work, the morale and confidence of the men is at the top notch. A brigade of Alpini were seen passing to the front. They did not wear those jaunty Alpine hats with a cock's feather as one sees them in Rome, but were figures in gray, topped with steel. They swung forward rapidly as if eager to arrive and to every inquiry they replied with confidence, lacking every trace of vainglory.

It is this confidence which is Italy's greatest asset at this critical moment, for the heroic defenders really believe that they will hold the enemy back.

CHECK TEUTON INVADERS ALONG MOUNTAIN FRONT.

ROME, Nov. 22.—The Austro-Germans invading Northern Italy yesterday reached a few of the Italian outstanding positions on the Italian advanced lines on Monte Fontana Secca, but elsewhere the Teutons were repulsed, the War Office announced today.

The text of the Italian statement reads:

"Yesterday the enemy launched several attacks between the Brenta and the Piave rivers. He was sanguinarily repulsed with the bayonet at the barrier lines of St. Marino, where he left prisoners and machine guns in our hands, and at Monte Pertica, where he fruitlessly renewed the attack three times. He was arrested completely by artillery fire at Monte Monfenero. A few outstanding elements of our advanced lines on Monte Fontana Secca were reached.

"During the early hours of last night enemy masses on the Asiago Plateau attacked our positions at Casera and Meletta d'Avanti, but our troops, offering heroic resistance and counter-attacking, promptly drove them back to the positions whence they started."

CAPTURE MONTE FONTANA.

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (via London.)—The summits of Monte Fontana and Monte Spinuocia, on the northern Italian front, between the Brenta and Piave rivers, have been captured, it is announced officially.

BIG BATTLE IMMINENT.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday, Nov. 21.—The battle in the mountainous region in the north between the Piave and Brenta rivers is nearing its culmination. It centers at Monte Grappa, and has become a struggle of giants.

It is now clear that notwithstanding the great numbers of troops employed by the enemy and his advantages of terrain, he is able to advance only very slowly now that he is not being assisted by the element of surprise, by treason and other circumstances, which favored him at the first. Even if the Italians should be obliged to abandon the Piave River line, they may be expected to fall back more slowly and offer still more tenacious opposition

ITALIAN TROOPS HOLD AGAINST HEAVY ODDS.

Fourth Army Repulses Fierce Attacks of Austrian Invading Force.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ITALIAN ARMY IN NORTHERN ITALY, Nov. 22, 12 noon.—The Fourth Italian Army under Gen. Robilant is meeting the full force of the tremendous shock the enemy has concentrated between the Piave and Brenta rivers. In authoritative quarters the correspondent was told that the enemy forces delivering this blow are in the proportion of three to two as compared with the Italian forces and this is virtually the relative strength on the two wings west of the Brenta, where Gen. Pecori commands the First Italian Army, and the right wing along the Piave, where the Duke of Aosta holds the enemy as in a vise.

It is in this position that the Fourth Army is experiencing the most intense action, with attacks following in rapid succession. Reports early in the day were satisfactory, as the main fighting ground was further north on the enemy's positions, though at one point the enemy succeeded in breaking through the Italian lines on the foothills of Monte Fontana Secca, compelling the reformation of the defensive lines a little farther back.

These fluctuations are marked by the bloodiest fighting, with the enemy reserves coming forward for three successive attacks, which were met at the point of the bayonet and driven back, except for one push down the coveted valley.

Just west of this main field of action the Italian First Army rushed the enemy positions near the Brenta River and in two attacks and counter-attacks held the occupied ground, which was strewn with enemy corpses.

On the lower Piave the enemy forces in the bushes on the west bank back of Zenson are now placed at 700 men, who are being raked by the artillery, as they have tried to set up a line of machine guns across the small area they occupy.

Reports are coming in from the invaded Venetian district of fearful acts committed by soldiers, but this is stated under reserve as it is impossible at present to give confirmation.

men in the most scientific manner possible. I think we have done that and what is offered here is the basis for a nice balance between our two necessities.

NEED FIGHTING MEN.

"There are those who say that we must win this war in the economic field with the inference that the raising of an army is a side issue. I say to you that with any greater inroads into the field of recruitment of our army, we shall be sending inferior men to the field. That if this nation is not competent to make the slight adjustment necessary to compensate for this scientific selection then it is not competent to enter this war.

"Certainly no man can urge in this day of trial and sacrifice that this nation should deliberately neglect to make itself effective in the field of military operations on the plea that our greatest contribution to the cause of humanity is in attaining an economic supremacy. To do so would be to relegate the United States to the role of butler for the fighting nations.

"We shall, of course, increase our production. We shall become more and more effective as a nation and we shall supply our new armies and do all that can be expected of us to supply the armies of our allies.

"But we shall not, under that guise, confine our participation in this conflict to the baking of bread and the sharpening of the swords of other men.

"This war will be won militarily on the devoted field of France. Doubtless it will be won by the side that is able to place behind its army the prevailing ounce of provision.

"But the blow that shatters the German line and extinguishes autocracy from the face of the earth will be the blow of a man's right arm and not the insidious stroke of a shrewd trader."

PRAISES DRAFT OFFICIALS.

Gen. Crowder pays high tribute to the zeal and patriotism of more than 30,000 men who compose the machinery of the selective system. With but ten weeks for the task, the first National Army increment of 687,000 men was drawn, he says, by a nation "moving breathlessly, supported by the Governors of the States and by the members of the selection boards with a patriotism, devotion and unselfish zeal that remains an inspiration."

But the system itself was lacking. He adds, "We paved the first increment of our armies with a broad ax because there was time for no greater refinement. We must pare future increments away with greater discrimination. The selective system must be carried to its logical conclusion and we must meet Prussian efficiency with a greater American effectiveness."

With this text, Gen. Crowder outlined the underlying motives of the new classification system for registered men with which the boards are about to begin. In doing so, he assured board members that the great burden which rested upon them in the first draft had been reduced and the demand upon their time cut down.

He expressed an urgent hope that the present members would remain at their tasks as a patriotic duty. The board members, he said, are as essential in their places as the army itself.

"You are, in effect," he adds, "a part of the army of the United States, in that you are the source of its supply. The nation is rapidly becoming a great system, and if this part of it were disturbed now it is not too much to say that that system would be shattered so effectively that it would take weeks if not months to repair the damage."

In conclusion Gen. Crowder asserts that the volunteer method of raising armies is gone forever.

"The principle of selection has been tried and proven by our people," he adds. "I am led to believe that they approve it with substantial unanimity.

"The principle of selection is established. The system of selection, improved as we can improve it, must become and remain a permanent part of our governmental system for war.

"It is for this reason that I say we are standing not at the portals of a past but rather at the threshold of a future."

GERMANIZED STUDENT WOULDN'T SALUTE FLAG.

INSTRUCTOR SAVES HIM FROM ROUGH HANDLING BY FELLOW-PUPILS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Refusal to rise and sing "The Star Spangled Banner" with the other students of a High School here resulted today in the suspension from the school of Frank Lintner, Jr., 19 years old, and the beginning of an investigation by the Board of Education.

The boy was threatened with forceful ejection from the school auditorium by a group of angry students, but was saved by the interference of an instructor.

Lintner, according to the school records, is a son of Frank X. Lintner, who had been a Socialist candidate in various municipal elections.

School authorities said Lintner explained his refusal to rise by saying that he was not fired with patriotism as were his fellow-students, and that he did not wish to be a hypocrite.

VON TIRPITZ SNEERS AT MILITARY AMERICA.

DECLARES TONNAGE QUESTION PROMISES TO BE THE DECISIVE FACTOR.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 22.—"America's entry into the war is disadvantageous to us in moral and many other ways," said Admiral von Tirpitz, former German Minister of Marine, in addressing a meeting of the Fatherland party at Dresden. "We ought to have reckoned with the fact that the American trust magnates were bound to desire our defeat.

"I regret that we did not remain firm in the face of President Wilson's threats. If we had done so things probably would have been very different, but now we must take them as they are.

"I would point out, however, that from a military standpoint America's entry into the war is of little significance to us, because it is the tonnage question that is decisive."

The admiral expressed regret that Germany had been late in using that "powerful economic weapon," the U-boat, but said that notwithstanding all the countermeasures which the delay gave Great Britain time to develop, Germans would be successful if they struck to their guns.

CAVALRY SHOWS REAL WORTH.

Gen. Haig's Horse Troops Prove Their Value.

Tanks and Mounted Forces Win Cambrai Drive.

Armored Caterpillars Plough Through Teuton Front.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 21.—The present battle more than any other in the western theater has taken on the savor of fighting in other wars, when men struggled in the open and cavalry made thrilling charges against enemy guns. Many military critics have long contended that cavalry was a thing of the past, but the mounted men have refuted this claim.

Field Marshal Haig has clung to his horse troops throughout the weary months of trench fighting. He believed that some day he would have a chance to use them and his judgment has been vindicated.

Field Marshal Haig's blow against the Cambrai front represents true strategy. He had hammered at the enemy in Flanders until they were worn out completely. He had driven them back as far as the mud would permit and had compelled them to call on every ounce of strength they had to maintain themselves. Then he suddenly sprang his surprise attack in an unexpected quarter. The Hindenburg lines on the Cambrai front were the strongest the Germans had laid out in the west. The enemy considered them impregnable. Not only were they strongly fortified, but they were protected by a very deep belt of barbed wire, which it was thought that only a protracted bombardment by great concentration of guns would cut sufficiently to allow the infantry to go through.

PROVE VALUE OF TANKS.

British tanks had never been called upon for such extensive work but they did in a few hours what the artillery would have required days to accomplish. The Hindenburg line was pierced absolutely on a wide front and to a greater depth than ever before.

The correspondent today inspected the main Hindenburg line near Havrincourt and saw the amazing work done by the iron monsters. In most places they had no trouble either in tearing through the wire or in crossing trenches. There were gaps in the wire entanglements a rod in width, where not one vestige of wire was left standing, and by following the tracks of the tanks one could see where they had trundled across the trenches as though they were merely scratches in the ground instead of wide, deep ditches.

The tanks, of course, went through No Man's Land under the full observation of the German artillery and while the gun fire was weak, some fire was directed on the tanks as they advanced. It was interesting to follow the trail of the tanks and to see where shells had struck them about, apparently without doing any damage. For in this whole section the correspondent did not see one tank which had been knocked out.

The condition of the German trenches showed plainly that the occupants had abandoned them in a hurry. All sorts of equipment and personal belongings strewed the ground.

Since the beginning of the attack the gun fire had been extremely weak. No Man's Land showed comparatively few shell craters today, and this morning the British guns were doing virtually all the firing along most of the front involved. This is a striking contrast to the Flanders region, which has been an inferno of artillery fire for weeks.

The Germans have attempted very few counter-attacks since the and all of them have been repul The latest counter-thrust was made last night near court, and this was promptly.

UNTERMYER FRAMES WAR STAMP TAXES.

NEW YORK LAWYER IS ADVISER TO GOVERNMENT'S COMMISSIONER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Regulations to govern the administration of war stamp taxes on bonds, notes, exchange sales and other documents by the Internal Revenue Bureau were drawn today under the supervision of Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer, acting as adviser to Commissioner Roper, and will be announced about the middle of next week. The stamp taxes go into effect one week from Saturday, December 1.

Mr. Untermyer conferred today with the committee of representatives of stock, grain, produce and cotton exchanges which was called to Washington by Commissioner Roper to co-operate in framing the regulations.

One of the most difficult questions under consideration is the taxation on future dealings. Exchange men insist that transactions made to carry out terms of previous agreements in future dealings should not be taxed, while the Internal Revenue Bureau is said to incline toward the view that both transactions are taxable. Similar questions have arisen for produce exchanges, commission men urging that only sales resulting in actual deliveries of goods be taxed.

NEW YORK SUFFRAGISTS WILL BE NONPARTISAN.

Recommend that as an Organization They Should Remain as Group.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The New York State Woman Suffrage party in convention here today adopted a recommendation that as an organization it should remain as a group of nonpartisan voters.

"We should not at this convention," the recommendation read, "indorse any principle, party or individual, or commit ourselves to parties or partisan measures before we have had ample time to study conditions and problems of government which are new to us."

PLEDGE PARTY HELP.

An amendment to the party's constitution also was adopted, pledging the State organization's efforts "to secure to the women of the United States their right to vote by appropriate State and national legislation" and to work for humanitarian legislation "benefit moral conditions and especially protect the interests of women and children."

More than $700,000 in money and pledges were raised by the State party to further the campaign for women suffrage during the last fiscal year, it was shown in a report submitted by Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, treasurer.

The convention unanimously adopted a proposal that the State board consider the sending abroad of a reconstruction unit for war relief work.

An invitation to join the party was extended to women who either were anti-suffragists, or who took no part in the campaign, but who "desire to serve their government effectively, who wish to know and to act, so that the injustice and difficulties under which many of the citizens of the State live and labor may be abolished."

SAYS "GO SLOW."

Mrs. Henry White Cannon of this city, a newly-elected director of the party, warned women voters not to be hasty in affiliating themselves with political parties.

"Go slow," she said. "Don't join any political parties until you are perfectly sure of your step. The political parties have gotten along without us for a long time and they can wait a little longer."

Mrs. Norman de Whitehouse was re-elected State chairman of the party and all the officers nominated with her yesterday were elected.

restore confidence in the city of Seattle and that is to remove the Mayor and Chief of Police. The Council could remove the Mayor for incompetence or failing to perform his duty after giving him five days' notice. If no other action is taken to remove him, the people probably will attend to it at the first opportunity.

"Owing to the relation I may bear to the mayoralty situation, I dislike very much to say anything like this, but facts are facts and there is no use trying to dodge them."

Maj.-Gen. Greene reiterated his charge that Seattle is infested with gambling, blind-pigging, pro-Germanism and other forms of illegal conduct; that the so-called effort to clean up this city is nil as far as actual accomplishment is concerned.

Gen. Greene said he is not ready to lay his cards face up on the Seattle table, but that when he is ready to expose them it will be on the Federal table, where the big game is being played.

Gov. Lister, when acquainted over the long-distance phone of Gen. Greene's order, said the action was of such a serious nature he would be unable to make any comment until he had had more time to consider it.

Seattle made her selection of an administration and now she must suffer, said Dist.-Atty Clay Allen.

"My comment is that Gen. Greene probably acted after a careful investigation," said Allen. "I know such an investigation was made. I do not look for him to remove the ban until conditions have been materially changed. I am certain he will not look for such a change during the regime of the present Chief of Police. This order will mean a loss to Seattle merchants and the community as a whole. It will give us a close-up view of what outsiders think of us and should be a good lesson to all of us."

Chief Beckingham said:

"We are trying the best we can to clean up the town. That's all I've got to say."

Approximately 2000 Seattle men are stationed at the Camp Lewis cantonment out of a total of 40,000. Only enlisted men desiring to visit relatives will be given passes to come to Seattle, according to Gen. Greene's quarantine orders. These passes must be signed by officers and held ready to submit to any commissioned or noncommissioned officer.

MANY SALOONS IN CHICAGO CLOSED.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—There were 737 fewer saloon licenses in existence in Chicago tonight than on May 1 of this year, it was announced at the office of the city collector. The net loss in the last two years is a trifle more than 1000 licenses, due, according to saloonkeepers, to five principal causes:

The new Federal tax.
The drive of the drys.
The failure of the wets to clean up the business.
The extensive sale of beer from wagons.
The mobilization of the National Army.

The last of these reasons is the most frequently given by saloon men. The taking of 25,000 young men out of the city for army service has decreased the trade of the saloon-keepers, especially in the outlying districts.

Of the 1000 saloons closing since 1915, records show that 499 men attributed retirement from business to Sunday closing.

BOOTLEGGING EASY IN PORTLAND, OR.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 22. — Bootlegging has been made practically safe in Multnomah county by juries that refuse to convict. Out of the last eighteen cases tried in the county courts, seventeen have ended in acquittal.

District Judge Jones was indignant today following the acquittal of Mrs. Helen Ellias by a jury in his court. Mrs. Ellias confessed on the witness stand that she was bootlegging and had sold liquor no longer ago than Saturday.

Her confession was backed up with testimony showing that State Special Agents Scott and Jeffries had sent a Miss Scott to the defendant's house Saturday night to buy liquor. A pint of whisky was purchased and paid for with a marked $10 bill.

"The evidence was clear and convincing," declared Judge Jones. He expressed surprise that the jury should not have found Mrs. Ellias guilty.

The woman said she had obtained her liquor from a cousin.

CUT IN TWAIN BY TRANSPORT.

More Details of the Loss of the Destroyer Chauncey.

One French Ship and Two Fishing Vessels Sunk.

German Admiralty's Report on Helgoland Battle.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — The American destroyer Chauncey, sunk Monday, with the loss of twenty-one men, was cut in two by the transport Rose, the Navy Department was advised today by Vice-Admiral Sims. The after part of the destroyer sank immediately, carrying down three officers, including the commander, Lieutenant-Commander Walter E. Reno, and eighteen enlisted men, who are believed to have been asleep in their quarters.

The Chauncey undoubtedly was convoying the Rose, and both vessels were running through the war zone without lights. The transport struck the destroyer on the port side abreast the fourth funnel and ploughed through the frail vessel. The forward part of the wreck remained afloat an hour, enabling the Rose to rescue the seventy officers and men in that section. They were taken to port by the transport.

The Rose was not identified by naval officers here today, there being no record of an American transport of that name, and Admiral Sims was asked to clear up that point.

Secretary Daniels issued this statement:

"The United States destroyer Chauncey, which was sunk at 1 o'clock Monday morning, was rammed by the transport Rose, according to a dispatch received by the Navy Department from Vice-Admiral Sims today.

"Both vessels were running without lights at the time of the accident, the Rose crashing into the Chauncey on the port side abreast of the fourth funnel. The after portion of the destroyer immediately submerged, and officers and men in that part were drowned. After the collision the remaining portion of the vessel floated for about an hour and the transport was thus enabled to rescue the remainder of the officers and crew. They were taken to port by the Rose."

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. — Railroads entering Chicago today took action with R. L. Evans, representative of the State food administration, to put an end to holding food supplies for speculation.

Each road agreed through the Chicago Service Committee of the American War Board to report each day all cars of vegetables and other foodstuffs that have been delayed in the Chicago district three days or more. The food administration then will insist upon the immediate movement of the cars or the sale of their contents.

The roads also made arrangements to salvage through charitable organizations food that is spoiling in transit.

TAFT SAYS PEACE MEANS ALLIES WIN.

FORMER PRESIDENT DEFINES THE OBJECT OF LEAGUE MEMBERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Nov. 22.—Speaking here today, William H. Taft said that the League to Enforce Peace, of which he is president, is firmly committed to the accomplishment of the objects of the world war as the Allied nations see them.

"He who proposes peace now either does not see the stake for which the Allies are fighting or wishes the German military autocracy still to control the destinies of all of us as to peace or war," Mr. Taft said. "Those who favor a permanent world peace must oppose proposals for peace at this juncture of the war.

"The Allies are fighting for a principle, the maintenance of which affects the future of civilization. If they do not achieve it they have sacrificed the flower of their youth and mortgaged their future for a century and all for nothing."

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Demand for a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the selling price of a so-called service flag of a certain design used by firms and homes to indicate how many men they have sent to war, was received by flag manufacturers here today. The notice said the design had been patented recently.

Some local manufacturers announced they would neither make nor sell any more flags of this design.

STATE FOOD BOARD FORMED.

Los Angeles Man is Given Executive Position.

Sayre Macneil in Charge of Food Conservation.

Executive Committee Named by Ralph P. Merritt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Organization of the executive branch of the State food administration under Ralph P. Merritt, Federal Food Commissioner for California, was perfected today with the appointments of Charles D. Blaney of Saratoga, Barton T. Bean of San Francisco and Sayre Macneil of Los Angeles, to the chairmanships of the boards on marketing and distribution, food industries and food conservation, respectively.

Each volunteered his services in furtherance of the food conservation work of the State. Headquarters for each board will be maintained in the offices of the State Food Commissioner at San Francisco, with a view to closer co-operation in the management and direction of the executive policies. The chairman of each committee immediately took full charge of the work outlined for his department.

Mr. Blaney was former president of the State Highway Commission. Mr. Bean is a partner in the firm of Klink-Bean & Co., business organizers, with offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Preston McKinney, editor of the Commercial Bulletin of Los Angeles, will be associated with Mr. Bean. Mr. Macneil is a member of the law firm of O'Melveny, Stevens and Tuller of Los Angeles.

The new appointments together with that of Dean Thomas F. Hunt of the college of agriculture, University of California, to head the food production board, which had been previously announced, rounded out the executive staff.

The Food Industries Board will have charge of the packers, canneries, bakeries, manufacturers of food containers, and other producing agencies, all of whom operate under Federal license.

The marketing and distribution board will have supervision over the licensed commission and cold storage men, food dealers, brokers, wholesalers and retailers, its principal work being distribution of foods from the manufacturer to the consumer with the least cost.

As head of the Food Conservation Board Mr. Macneil will direct the work of women's organizations on food conservation, the public dining service, household economics, and religious and fraternal organizations.

Necessity of executive organization with a view to distributing the volume of work was demonstrated, Mr. Merritt announced, by the success of the recent food pledge campaign, signed by approximately 550,000 persons, and the great mass of detail incident to the regulation of more than 10,000 licensed food dealers and handlers throughout the State.

Piles, Fistula

and All Rectal Diseases

Without an Operation

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others. I cure without surgery and my patients are not confined in bed and seldom lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic conditions in my office.

Dear Dr. White: 1539 Medford St., Glendale, Cal.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the effectiveness of your painless method of treating hemorrhoids. I am cured after years of suffering and now I am capable of doing my work in comfort.

I am only too glad to advise my friends who are sufferers that you really cure hemorrhoids (Piles) and I shall be glad also to answer all inquiries relative thereto.

I am, sir, Very respectfully yours, REV. WM. H. WALKER.

WHY BLOOD SHOULD BE RED

The bright red color of the blood is caused by the presence in it of red corpuscles. It is these little bodies that carry nourishment to the tissues. They also cause the glow of health in cheeks and lips.

When the blood is deficient in these red corpuscles the person not only becomes pale but the body is undernourished, the weight is usually reduced and as the nerves share in the general starvation some form of nervousness follows. When the blood is improved in quality the tissues are better nourished and all the functions of the body are better performed.

When the blood lacks red corpuscles it is a scientific fact that a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cause them to increase. This can be demonstrated by a microscopic examination and anyone can prove it by looking in a mirror, for an increase in red blood shows quickly in the cheeks and especially in the lining membranes of the eyelids.

"Building Up the Blood" is a booklet, full of useful information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

PACIFISTS SQUELCHED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Threats of violence which failed to materialize formed the only resistance to San Francisco police who last night dispersed a crowd of persons assembled in expectation of hearing an address by Prof. Scott Nearing of the People's Council of America for Democracy and Terms of Peace, according to the police report filed today.

Alexander Horr, his wife, Mrs. Louise Horr, and Benjamin Friend, who attempted to address the crowd and were arrested, were to be arraigned today on charges of unlawfully assembling and refusing to obey police orders to disperse.

The report said many shouts of protest and threats caused the officer in command to turn in the riot call, which brought the reserves. The crowd had dispersed when these arrived.

Stratemeyer was taken by a number of men as he was returning to his home shortly after nightfall and thrown into an automobile. Driving several miles into the country, the machine was stopped at a lonely spot, where the tar and feathers were applied.

DEFEAT BACKACHE AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WITH ANURIC.

Many people in this section have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found Anuric to be the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded Nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called An-u-ric. You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twings of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as Bright's disease, diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions you should take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength.) You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm indorsers of An-u-ric, as are many of your neighbors.

Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

WILSON AVERTS RAILWAY STRIKE

Brotherhood Chiefs Agree to Arbitration.

Suspension of Transportation will be Avoided.

Patriotic Spirit Responsible for Concessions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Railroad Brotherhood chiefs, in a statement tonight after a two hours' conference with President Wilson on the wage dispute, announced that any suspension of transportation would be avoided, and declared their willingness to discuss and consider any suggested solution of the difficulties.

President Wilson, in a statement tonight, declared that the Railroad Brotherhood representatives had agreed at the conference today to patriotically stand by the government and to consider any proposed solution "in a spirit of accommodation," and were not inclined to contend for anything which they did not consider necessary for their welfare.

The statement of the brotherhoods, signed by the four chairmen, Messrs. Stone, Lee, Carter and Garretson, follows:

"The men who comprise the railway brotherhoods are thoroughly American. They believe in American standards of living, and realize that standards of pay established in 1912 and 1913 are inadequate to meet present-day prices, and for that reason are demanding an increase that will meet half at least of the increase in cost of those things which they are compelled to purchase.

PATRIOTIC EXPRESSION.

"They want to co-operate for the successful prosecution of the war, and they realize that the most serious thing that could occur during the war would be any interruption of railway transportation, and they, in common with the great body of the people, are determined to do everything within the bounds of reason to avoid such interruption.

"Being fully conversant with their attitude and desire in this matter, we are in a position to give the assurance that if a situation should arise which threatens the interruption of transportation, the men whom we represent would be more than willing to discuss and consider any solution of the difficulty in the spirit of patriotic co-operation, and would undoubtedly co-operate with the government to the utmost extent in arriving at a just, equitable and patriotic conclusion."

After the foregoing had been made public, President Wilson issued this statement:

"In addition to the statement given out by the heads of the railway brotherhoods, the President authorized the representatives of the press to say that he had got from the interview exactly the impression conveyed by the statement of the heads of the brotherhoods, namely, that the men whom they represented were not inclined to contend for anything which they did not deem necessary to their own maintenance and the maintenance of their families, and that they would be willing in case any critical situation or controversy should arise to consider any proposed solution in a spirit of accommodation and a patriotic purpose."

WINTER IN CHICAGO; SUMMER DREAM OVER.

NORTHWEST WIND LASHES LAKE MICHIGAN INTO FURY—MUCH SNOW.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 22.—Chicago and its territory, which has been dawdling through marvelous Indian summer days the last fortnight, was forcibly reminded today that winter is at hand. During the night, a northwest wind kept lashing Lake Michigan into a yellow fury and this morning a fifty-mile gale was screaming over the lake, driving great waves which smashed down wooden piers, dug into concrete emplacements, overflowed the beautiful Lake Shore drive in Lincoln Park and chased large and small craft into the shelter of river slips.

Shortly before noon the rain turned to hard sleet, driven with great force, and the city was enveloped in a blizzard. The Goodrich steamer Carolina, arriving from upper lake ports, had a hard time making its river slip. It was caught broadside by the gale and listed so heavily that the steering gear was out of the water. It finally managed to limp into the river mouth, to the immense relief of some badly-frightened passengers and an anxious crowd ashore.

Snow is falling tonight in Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Eastern Canada and temperatures are falling rapidly.

Temperatures generally throughout the United States yesterday, as reported by the government weather bureau in Los Angeles, were as follows:

PHONE STRIKE SETTLED BY MEDIATION BOARD.

Increased Wage Scale is Granted and Girls' Union Recognized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Complete agreement between the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, its employees and the Federal Mediation Commission headed by Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, was reached late today through a settlement that provides for recognition of the girl operators' unions, increased wages for the operators and electricians and the machinery for peaceful settlement of any future differences during the period of the war.

Under the terms of the agreement the government is recognised as an interested party in all disputes between the company and its employees and by agreement between them and government representatives, the government is given the final voice in such disputes in the event that the two other parties are unable to reach an agreement on any question of wages or working conditions that may arise during the war.

Following are the six vital features of the settlement as communicated by Secretary of Labor Wilson, head of the mediation commission, to President Wilson today:

(1.) Recognition of operators' unions and treating them as part of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

(2.) Wage increase for operators.

(3.) Wage increase for men employees.

(4.) Provision for negotiations upon any further increases between company and employees and arbitration by a representative to be appointed by the Secretary of Labor as a last resort.

(5.) Provision for machinery to dispose of all grievances peacefully with the Federal arbitrator as the court of last resort.

(6.) The the President's mediation commission is a party to the agreement, which is tri-parti.

Representatives of the striking northwestern unions will recommend to their locals that the agreement be ratified.

GRANT WAGE INCREASE.

An advance of 12½ per cent. for men employees becomes effective as from November 1, 1917. The minimum wage for operators in the large cities of the Pacific Coast is set at $9 a week, an increase of $1.40 for day work and a similar increase for evening and night. Proportionate increases are provided for workers in all other cities and towns, with a minimum wage set in all cases. The lowest minimum fixed is $8 a week.

CHICAGO THEATER BOMB PLOTTER CONFESSES.

Naturalized German and Former Postal Clerk was Also Blackmailer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Reingold A. Faust, a naturalized German, confessed tonight to Chief of Police Schuettler that he placed a bomb in the Auditorium Theater Friday during a grand opera performance. The crudely-constructed bomb did not explode, but its discovery caused much confusion among the audience. Faust, who was formerly a postoffice clerk, also admitted, the police said, that he had written blackmailing letters to James B. Forgan and Frank O. Wetmore, chairman of the board, and president respectively, of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Faust said he hated the government, not because it was at war with his native land, but because of treatment he had received while a postal employee for ten years, and failure to recover his position, from which he was discharged for insubordination. He said he wanted only to alarm wealthy persons, so that they would heed his blackmailing letters.

Faust said the bomb was to be ignited by means of a liquid which he poured on the floor of the theater. The flare from this chemical as it caught fire on exposure to air caused the first excitement among the auditors, and the flash that startled the whole theater was from the ignition of some powder that had spilled from the crudely-constructed bomb, Faust said.

The planter of the bomb said he attended the opera one night to plan how and where to place the explosive, and then bought a seat as far as possible from the stations of the ushers and fire guards. He said a life of low wages had driven him to try extortion, but also related that he had been discharged from the postal service and had made investments, one as high as $4000 in a Texas onion farm, but had failed in all of them. He said he had planned to place a more telling explosive in the same theater.

Disclosure.

HINDU PLOT IS UNVEILED.

Prosecutor Declares Teutons Financed Conspiracy.

Trial of Suspects Begins at San Francisco.

Intrigue is Disclosed by Brahmin Witness.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO., Nov. 22.—How his associates planned to finance, as he alleged, a conspiracy to create a military uprising in India by ransoming kidnaped Hindus who were loyal to the British government was related today by Sukumar Chatterji, the first witness called by the United States in the trial of thirty-four persons appearing as defendants in the so-called Hindu conspiracy plot.

Chatterji, a Brahmin, said the plan was disclosed in an address made before a gathering of Hindus by Ram Chandra, a writer and one of the defendants.

"Chandra declared that a plan was being considered whereby a big organization would be perfected in India to kidnap Hindus who were loyal to the British government," Chatterji said. "With the money secured by ransoms it was hoped the conspiracy against British rule in India would be financed."

The witness admitted knowing Ram Chandra and also Har Dyal, now believed to be in Switzerland, and who fled from San Francisco while on bail after his arrest by the immigration authorities. While not listed among the defendants, Har Dyal was identified as one of the leading spirits in the alleged conspiracy in United States District Attorney John W. Preston's opening address.

"My personal acquaintance with Har Dyal was slight," the witness stated, "but his ideas were generally known."

In describing the activities that eventually led to his arrest before he became a witness for the government, Chatterji said:

"I was detailed to go to India to incite the people and arouse them. My qualifications were well looked into. And when I left San Francisco for Manila on the first leg of my journey I carried letters addressed to other Hindus in the inland port.

"I was given a fictitious name with the title of prince. It was as a prince that I once visited Stockton on business connected with my work."

Chatterji said that he was given $700 to start with and that he paid his fare, $225, out of this sum. He said he was informed men already were in India at that time and engaged in conspiracy activities.

The German government, it was understood, according to Chatterji, was to "look out for arms and ammunition."

Chatterji's testimony was prefaced by a brief continuation of the opening address of Attorney Preston. After sketching various alleged activities of several of the defendants, Preston said that Ram Chandra was known, by four or five names and that several of the defendants, among them German consular representatives, were known by other names or nicknames.

Preston announced that he was prepared to establish, through Chatterji's testimony, the conspiracy activities of Ram Chandra, Gobal Singh and other Hindus in sending emissaries to India to pave the way for extended conspiracy activities.

Dates and places changed rapidly in Chatterji's narrative, the scenes of the alleged plot shifting alternately from San Francisco to the Orient and the Far East.

The Hindu defendants evinced considerable interest in this testimony, several of them taking notes. Portions of his testimony relating to alleged preparations preliminary to his departure on his mission in India were received by his countrymen with derisive smiles.

GERMANS ACCUSED.

Direct charges that Germany helped finance a widespread plot to overthrow British rule in India, and encouraged the proposed training and arming of forces here to effect this revolution, were made by United States District Attorney John W. Preston in the United States District Court today in opening the prosecution.

"I will show," Preston declared, "that missions composed of Hindus were sent to Germany and other points from this country in order to secure finances and other aid for an armed expedition against British institutions in India."

Preston charged further that money was sent by Hindus in San Francisco to some of their countrymen in Manila in order that the ramifications of the plot there might be properly financed; that plans to organize, equip and drill a force here were perfected, and that recruiting for this force was actively carried on.

"It was the plan," he said, "to send this force to the borders of India, where it would be given intensive training under officers sent from America. When such training was completed the plotters proposed to invade India and overthrow the British institutions there."

SHIPBUILDER INVOLVED.

Preston charged that John F. Craig, a shipbuilder of Long Beach, Cal., and one of the defendants, acted as an agent in the purchase of the steamer Maverick from the Standard Oil Company for the purpose of transporting part of this force to India. The Maverick will figure in the case later, he said.

Preston read newspapers articles, which he said were clipped from copies of Gadar (Revolution,) a Hindu paper edited here by Ram Chandra, one of the defendants, and which stated "rifle and blood are to take the place of pen and ink in India. The time has come to transform India into a great, happy, peaceful nation."

Preston told the jury that it would be necessary for them to keep in their heads the names of over 150 defendants and witnesses, many of whom are oriental. He said his office had been working on the case more than two years.

The alleged purchase and activities of the steamers Maverick and Annie Larsen were explained in detail by Preston. He said the history of the Annie Larsen had its inception when eleven carloads of arms and ammunition were purchased in New York and sent to San Diego with German money secured through the aid of Capt. Von Papen, now in Europe, and at one time military attache of the German Embassy at Washington.

Preston said the purchase of the vessels involved considerable correspondence, the transfer of sums of money running into thousands of dollars and the active participation of many of the defendants now on trial. He said that $14,000 was telegraphed from a San Francisco bank to a bank in Los Angeles and placed at the disposal of an alleged agent in that city as a purchasing fund. He said the transfer of the money had been arranged by a woman in disguise and who had given the name of Jean Fisher. He said the money was in currency and was carried in the woman's muff.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED.

He reviewed the wanderings of the Maverick and the Annie Larsen and of the failure of the alleged attempt to get their cargoes into India. He said that, in anticipation of the safe arrival at their destination of these cargoes, trenches and tunnels had been built near Bangkok, Siam. He said the Maverick at one time carried five Hindus, two of whom assumed Persian names; $10,000, which was to have been spent in India, and a great deal of revolutionary literature.

"It was only necessary to give the password, 'King George,' to gain admittance to the ship," Preston said.

Consular officers in America and in the Orient, particularly in Manila, Honolulu, Batavia, Shanghai, Amoy, Bangkok, Nanking, Peking, Yokohama and other ports, had participated in the alleged conspiracy, according to Preston.

He said the affiliation between the Germans and Hindus had been so pronounced that "all a Hindu had to do was to walk into a consular office, give the number by which he was designated, and he could get all the money he needed."

KNITTING NEEDLES MUST PLY FASTER.

LARGE NUMBER OF SWEATERS AND MUFFLERS NEEDED BY RED CROSS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—So great is the present demand upon the Red Cross for knitted articles for men in cantonments and army posts and those aboard American warships, that the Atlantic division today sent out an appeal to chapters in its jurisdiction to mobilize all the volunteer help it can get in an effort to speed up work on sweaters, wristlets, mufflers, helmets and socks.

In the last three days requests for 403,000 knitted articles were received by John Magee, director of military relief for the division, from cantonments, forts and embarkation camps in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. With virtually every requisition for sweaters and other knitted articles, he says, comes the request that the garments be delivered at the camps before Christmas.

CARRANZA TROOPS GUARD JUAREZ AGAINST VILLA.

Mexican Federal Forces are Mobilized at Texas Border Town.

JUAREZ (Mex.) Nov. 22.—Juarez is again a military encampment tonight. The town is filled with soldiers and the overflow have been quartered at the Juarez race track. All of the barracks are filled with soldiers, the railroad yards are crowded with troop trains and a military train is held under steam in readiness to proceed south should Villa appear along the railroad.

Col. Favela, with his command of 2000 men, arrived here from Chihuahua city today to reinforce the garrison. While army officers and government officials here claim they do not expect an attack, it is plainly apparent that they do not intend to be taken by surprise.

Gen. Eduardo Hernandez, acting commander of the northeastern military zone, has taken the field in person at the head of a column of 2000 cavalry pursuing the Villa forces in the Ojinaga sector, according to information received today from Chihuahua city.

MEXICAN RETREAT.

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 22.—The Mexican Federal soldiers and their families from the Ojinaga garrison started on the last lap of their trip from Presidio to Juarez tonight when they entrained at Marfa, Tex., on a special Southern Pacific train for El Paso. The train is expected to reach here early tomorrow morning and will be shunted to Juarez over the international bridge.

It is understood the Mexican government is defraying the expenses of the trip. There are 700 soldiers, women and children in the party which crossed the Rio Grande November 14, when Ojinaga capitulated before Villa's assault.

LABOR PROBLEM IN FRUIT WORLD

Losses Feared if Growers to Their Own Ruin.

Support of a Movement Co-operation is Urged.

No Limit to Profit in Orchard and Vineyard.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 22.—Delegates attending the fifth annual convention of California fruit growers, being held here, and the University of California, farther west, near here, today, and many explanations of the methods of ments being considered these

The first reference to the problem confronting the fruit interests of the State was made today by H. C. Dunlap of Fresno, who said great losses will occur this year if individual growers do not do their own resources in the farm workers.

This subject will be discussed at the session tomorrow, the last of the convention.

CO-OPERATION.

Support of the movement now for the organization of co-operative marketing associations was urged by speakers today. W. L. Hart of San Jose, director of the National Apricot Association, who said co-operative organization and standardization is putting the backbone of the industry.

Representatives of various growers' associations who attended the convention on the results of co-operative marketing plans of organizations said they had been beneficial to the producers. Chris Weinstock, State Horticultural Commissioner, predicted that California would be placed in the forefront of producing States if the movement received the full support of growers for the next five years.

PROFIT.

H. C. Dunlap of San Jose said there was practically no limit to the profitable orchard and vineyard planting in California, owing to the improved marketing conditions and increased shipping facilities by rail and water. It was impossible to overstock the markets, he said.

J. L. Nagle of the California Fruit Distributors announced that certain fruit growers had not lived up to the conditions of their contracts in the New York market, and that he would be compelled to establish a fund for the benefit of growers whose loads of apples had been damaged among the Americus orchards.

A telegram from Rose, a resident of Kern county, inviting the convention to meet there next year, was received today. No action was taken on the invitation.

The University of California at Davis, near here, was visited this afternoon by the fruit growers.

THE CAR SHORTAGE.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 22.—The car shortage situation as it affects the future of the fruit industry in California was explained today before the fifteenth annual convention of the California Fruit Growers' Association by Stanley McCormick of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. McCormick's statement was prompted by remarks made by John L. Nagle, general manager of the California Fruit Distributors, which he asserted that the shipments must be curtailed 50 per cent. in 1918, and did not assure the growers of a crop production. Growers have been led to believe in a way that government agencies were responsible for the car shortage, they could not get cars to handle California's enormous fruit crop, but they did not give the details of the situation. Mr. McCormick's explanation was that a large degree to the unprecedented demands for war materials has not given it as much attention as it should have, but that conditions would be relieved in 1918, his figures indicating that since war was declared the government has let contracts for the construction of buildings at its various training camps, a vast number of cars have been removed from the traffic to carry materials to the camps. The cars, it is said, required 50,000 carloads of lumber and 50,000 carloads of cement and other metal materials. The camps will not have to be built next year. Another factor of influence on the car shortage is the fact that 100,000 cars were suddenly released from private use, 18,000 carloads of which required 23,000 carloads to move. The demand for California fruit was greater than ever before, and a 5000-car increase paved the way for a scramble for refrigerator stock.

REP FOOTBALL FINISH TODAY.

Hangers will Mingle with Toilers.

Hollywood Fights it Out with Polytechnic.

Lack has No Bearing on City Title.

The City League football schedule will end in a blaze of noisy glory this afternoon, when the L. A. High Hangers mingle with the Manual Arts Toilers at Manual, and Hollywood fights it out with Polytechnic in the foothill town.

Some of today's battles have any bearing on the city title, since Manual Arts, with three victories and no defeats, has the gonfalon cornered in dispute. However, the Polytechnic-Hollywood encounter is capable of turning up second place considerations, should the Mechanics put it over on the Hillmen. At present the teams stand as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

If Poly is victor today both the Hollywood and Mechanics will have one loss and lost two, so Moody's boys are ready to scrap to the last ditch that they may remain in second position. With the season practically over, the Foothillers will not worry over injuries, but go at it hammer and tongs.

The dope on the Manual Arts-L. A. High fray leans toward a victory for the Toilers, but L. A. High has a way of developing unforeseen power when it comes to a pinch. Nothing is more uncertain than prep football, and since the defeat of L. A. High by Lincoln the prep-ites prophets have been peculiarly retiring when it comes to expressing opinions. Coach Whittle of L. A. High has made a shift in his back field that is expected to strengthen it, because of the team materially. Ryan, who made such a good showing at quarter in the Poly game, has been shifted to full, and Hughes will call signals.

"Bob" Russell will not appear in the Poly-Hollywood affair, having decided to witness the encounter from the sidelines. Cuddleback will occupy "Reb's" former berth at full.

BAN JOHNSON IS FLAYED BY FANS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Offices of the American League were deluged today with messages, some of them of approval, and many of them of protest, over the announcement by B. B. Johnson, president of the league, that exemptions for players in his league will be asked from the national government.

"The National League will not ask special exemption for any of its players and is not in sympathy with any selfish plea of discrimination in favor of its business or players," declared John K. Tener, president of the league, in a message from New York.

Dispatches from all over the country flay Ban Johnson for his stand. It is pointed out that he would be in better business, inasmuch as a few days ago his press agents were sending dispatches all over the country that Johnson was ready to take an active part in the war and would lend his energies to help beat the Kaiser.

OFFER GOLD FOR CLIPPING RECORD.

HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR EACH FIFTH OF SECOND TIME IS REDUCED.

One hundred dollars for each one-fifth of a second clipped off the record for the mile on Ascot Speedway is the offer made by the management of the Liberty Sweepstakes event scheduled for Thanksgiving Day over the historic speed oval.

The record stands at 45s., being held by Barney Oldfield and his Christie freak. The veteran piloted the front-drive monster around the track at the opening of Ascot as a speedway, and experts have often declared Oldfield's drive was so savage that there is scant chance it will be broken for many years.

When it was announced that Oldfield would send his Golden Submarine for the record on Thanksgiving Day, Chevrolet, Milton, Hearne and some of the others besieged the management for an opportunity to show what they could do in a sprint against Old Father Time.

The offer of a liberal prize in gold was the reply to the request. So, if any of the stout-hearted speed boys think they can nick the old scythe-wielder for a few fifths of a second they will be well repaid for the gasoline they use. Oldfield is willing to wager a few ducks his mark will stand so far as the other drivers' efforts are concerned, yet he predicts he will shade his present record by a full second.

The latest entry for the big meet was filed last night by Earle Langley, who nominated a National for the Ascot handicap event. Langley has a fast car and bears the reputation of holding his foot all the way down as long as he is able to hang onto the wheel.

ANGELENOS WINNERS AT OLYMPIC CLUB.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22. — An international championship boxing tournament, a benefit for the Red Cross, opened here tonight. Sailors and soldiers formed a conspicuous element among the spectators. Twenty-five three-round bouts were on the bill for the first night, and the titles will be won and lost in another series of matches tomorrow night. Four national champions are entered in their respective classes and many large athletic clubs are represented.

Army officers all over the country lent their co-operation to the enterprise by granting leave of absence to boxers in the service who were on the programme. The tourney was promoted by the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Tonight's results:

NEW PLAYER CONTRACT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Next year's contracts of the Philadelphia National League baseball club probably will contain a clause providing for revision or cancellation should the war interfere with the playing out of the season or cause a lack of attendance, according to W. H. Baker president of the club. Mr. Baker said he believed the form of contract adopted by the National League will contain a clause similar to that proposed by the Phillies, and that all clubs will subscribe to it.

Welcome to Our City.

MARINES ARRIVE ON CONQUERING (?) TOUR.

LOADED to the gunwales with navy beans, brass buttons, red stripes and a deep and ingrowing knowledge of the venerable game of football, the Mare Island marines sailed into our sunny clime yesterday noon, dashed to the L.A.A.C. for "chow" and hoofed it to the Washington Park gridiron for a short workout.

For celebrities the marines strike one as almost human. Despite their formidable uniforms, widespread notoriety and spotless record as pursuers of the pigskin, the visitors were not averse to chatting with the humble newspaper men, who sidled up to such a display of gorgeous manhood in a manner almost apologetic.

Johnnie Beckett, left tackle, who graced the University of Oregon line-up with his bashful mug for four years, came in for the lion's share of attention from the admiring populace. Little "Jawn" parts his hair in the middle, lisps like a girl of 8, blushes crimson at sight of a photographer and weighs in at 195 pounds. Jawn is without a peer west of the Mississippi when it comes to the tackle berth, and can kick like a recalcitrant mule.

When the Marines trotted onto the turf the U.S.C. Trojans were running signals in a far corner of the field. Beckett sidled over to a group of press representatives, took a bite out of the air, blushed, rubbed his chin in distressed confusion and stammered out, "Would you mind telling me who that high school team is practicing over there?" When informed that he was gazing upon the famous University of Southern California eleven, little Jawn began to apologize, got tangled up in his grammar and beat a hasty retreat.

Sergt. Norton, the Marine coach, put the men through a few brisk stunts to get them limbered up after their voyage and then called it a day's work. Huntington and Beckett indulged in a friendly punting duel, the linemen did a couple of laps on the diamond and with a snappy session of forward passing and signal work the entertainment was over.

Beckett, Mitchell, Hall, Bailey and Hollis Huntington are all widely known in Southern California as members of the University of Oregon eleven that appeared at Pasadena New Year's Day. Coach Norton states that the team he will start the game with Saturday averages 177 pounds, which is fourteen pounds heavier to the man than the Trojans. The entire squad of the "first to fight" men totals up to some 3035 pounds of first-class beef —enough to send Prof. Hoover into a transport of joy. Forty-eight years of college experience stands behind them — hence a great amount of wisdom and learning is incorporated into their mode of play. Having pulled down their sheepskins at Oregon, Beckett and Huntington figure the angle of a punt by resorting to intricate geometrical problems and, when sore at the officials, hurriedly repeat some of the philosophical maxims of Plato, Aristotle or Irvin Cobb to recover their poise.

After yesterday's practice Coach Cromwell of the U.S.C. squad got together with the sea warriors and talked over the matter of officials for the game. The following were tentatively decided upon: Referee, Abbott; umpire, Sid Foster; field judge, Harry Trotter, "Owl" Irvine or Graham Moody; head linesman, "Kewpie" Keppen.

There is some doubt as to whether or not Keppen will officiate, since it is rumored that he may don a uniform for the visiting marines. Keppen won the everlasting admiration of Marine Coach Norton yesterday by demonstrating his well-known ability as a punter.

RUGBY FIFTEENS FOR BIG BATTLE.

STANFORD HOLDS WORKOUT BEFORE GAME WITH SANTA CLARA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PALO ALTO, Nov. 22.—Amidst the cheers of fully 1000 Stanford Rugby enthusiasts, the twenty-one men, including six substitutes that were selected by Coach Wylie, had a light workout this afternoon breaking in their suits and giving to the Stanford fans in a formal way, the line-up that is to meet the Santa Clara fifteen on Saturday.

Coach Wylie has selected a fast bunch of forwards. Although not as heavy as the Santa Clara men they should prove more aggressive. "Veteran" Swart, and "Dark Horse" Righter should easily prove the stars of the forwards. Betts and Curtice will have to work hard to hook the ball from the Santa Clara forwards, Howell and Ferrario.

In the backfield Stanford has the edge on Santa Clara in every respect. The Cardinal backs are much heavier, and when compared man to man are much faster. "Yank" Chandler, with a swerving run that is similar to that of "Pretty" Lachmund, should be a consistent ground gainer for the Cardinal. At full back Stanford has "Dink" Templeton, a veteran of three seasons. His boots will aid Stanford in driving back the dribbling rushes of the Santa Clara forwards. After the light workout this afternoon the Cardinals will rest Friday in hopes that they will be in the prime of condition Saturday. Coach Von Manderschteid of Santa Clara also gave out his line-up this afternoon.

The line-up for the two fifteens follow:

STANFORD VARSITY.

WOMAN DROWNS AT LONG BEACH

Ventures too Far into the Surf and Goes Down.

Prominent Merchant, Mason and Elk, Dies.

Was One of the Best-known Hardware Men in West.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 22.—Miss Edith Hakes, 29 years old, of No. 445 East Ocean avenue, who came to Long Beach from Tucson, Ariz., three months ago to take ocean baths in the hope to benefit her health, was drowned this afternoon when she ventured too far out beyond the breaker line. She could not swim. The body has not been recovered.

Miss Hakes was in bathing with a party of friends at the foot of Linden avenue and was about to return to her apartments when she said she would take a final dip in the ocean to wash the sand from her bathing suit. She suddenly disappeared in a big wave and was seen no more.

A watch is being kept on the beach in anticipation that the body will float ashore. Surrounding beach cities have also been requested to keep a lookout for the body.

W. H. ("Pop") Bennett, prominent merchant and Mason, died at his home, No. 2013 East First street, this morning after a brief illness. He was 66 years old and possessed a rare personality that made him an unusual number of friends in Long Beach, as well as other Southern California and Middle Western States.

The members of his family, with the exception of Mrs. I. H. Peck, who resides at Grant's Pass, Or., were at his bedside when the end came. Mrs. Peck is now on her way south. The body is at the undertaking parlors of J. J. Mottell.

Mr. Bennett was one of the best-known hardware men in the West. He was in business in Chicago for twenty-four years before coming to Long Beach ten years ago.

Prominent in fraternal life, especially in Masonry, Mr. Bennett was president of the Long Beach Shriner's Club, held a life membership in Belvedere Lodge, No. 60, F.&A.M., of Chicago; was a member of the Long Beach commandery, Royal Arch Masons; Oriental Consistory, Chicago; life member of the Kaaba temple, Shriners, Davenport, Iowa; Long Beach Chapter Eastern Star and Long Beach court of the Amaranth. He was also an Elk of long standing and high character.

For the last four years as president of the Long Beach Business Men's Association; a director of the Chamber of Commerce; civil service commissioner and was formerly a fire commissioner.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Estella B. Bennett; two sons and three daughters, W. H. Bennett, Jr., Bryant Bennett; Mrs. Alline Housen, Mrs. June Sidger all of Long Beach, and Mrs. I. H. Peck of Grant's Pass, Or.

The local lodge of Elks will conduct the funeral services, which will be held at the First Christian Church, Monday afternoon, November 26. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce will attend in a body. The Blue Lodge Masons will have charge of the services at the cemetery with Knights Templars as escorts. City officials and employees will also attend the funeral in a body.

KILLED BY CARS.

DRAFTED MAN'S PREMONITION OF IMPENDING DEATH COMES TRUE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, Nov. 22.—Before he left for Camp Lewis with the seventh contingent of Liberty soldiers last Sunday, Madison C. Smith of Calipatria had a premonition that he would not live to see the trenches in France, although he was eager and anxious to serve his country. Today Clerk Barton of the local draft board received a message that Smith had fallen between the cars of the train bearing him to Camp Lewis and had been almost instantly killed.

The accident occurred near Edgewood, Or., where the body awaits word from relatives in Burr Oak, Kan. Smith was employed on the C. C. Bowles ranch, near Calipatria.

STRANGE AIRPLANE AROUSES RANCHERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRAWLEY, Nov. 22. — George Bradshaw has organized a posse of ranchers living in the section west of this city to visit the Superstition range in search of a mysterious airplane which Bradshaw and others saw at sunrise yesterday morning. The ranchers will use horses and will take provisions for a four-day trip, determined to solve the mystery.

Bradshaw says that as he was milking, the rising sun having thrown the Superstition range into relief, he saw the huge airplane coming from the west. It flew low, reached the edge of the irrigated area, and turned back, dropping to the ground behind the "horn" of the range.

PRONOUNCE WOMAN HOPELESSLY INSANE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 22. — Mrs. Elsie Wood, who shot and killed her husband, L. T. Wood, in the street here Monday of last week, is hopelessly insane. This is the opinion of county alienists who had Mrs. Wood under examination for a week, and this opinion is shared by Dr. Fred P. Clark, medical superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, who was brought here from Stockton as a consultant in the case. That there may be no error in the diagnosis, Mrs. Wood has been taken to Stockton, where she will be placed under constant attention.

Mrs. Wood refuses to believe she shot her husband, declares enemies are back of her arrest, and eats only when alone, saying attempts are being made to poison her.

Sick People Sometimes Die From Lack of a Good Stimulant

Especially is this true in grip and pneumonia, for they are infectious diseases which attack weak and strong alike. Serious complications are liable to develop in the course of the disease, as grip settles in the weakest part of the system, sometimes the kidneys, the brain, the stomach or the heart, resulting often in heart failure, but the most dreaded of all, pneumonia, which is particularly fatal when arising from grip. As one able medical writer says:

"In all severe types of pneumonia there are two sources of danger—heart insufficiency, and high temperature. A large portion of deaths from pneumonia directly result from heart failure.

judiciously used is one of the most efficient means of preventing or overcoming it."

The reason it is a remarkable remedy in the treatment and relief of grip, coughs, colds, influenza, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, is that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey aids in keeping the digestive functions in healthy condition so that the body gets the necessary health and strength from food eaten—enabling it to throw off disease germs. For more than 56 years it has brought the blessings of health to overworked men, delicate women and the sickly, who find in Duffy's the strength-giving properties that are so necessary to them.

BRITISH AIR HERO COMES TO PASADENA.

AUTOMOBILE AND MOTORCYCLE INJURE TWO SERIOUSLY IN ONE DAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 22. —After spending eleven months in an English hospital as a result of injuries received when he fell in a flying machine, Capt. J. W. Van Alstyne of the British Royal Flying Corps is now at the Maryland for further recuperation. He descended 11,000 feet without completely losing control of the machine. In the fall he broke a leg, an arm, his jawbone and an ankle. In the descent he also was wounded by two bullets and the splinters from his motor, which was struck by a German shell.

Two motor accidents were reported to the police yesterday. The victims were an invalid and an 8-year-old girl, both of whom were seriously injured, the one by a motorcycle and the other by a motor car. Helen Collins, daughter of Mrs. Anna R. Collins, No. 157 West Washington street, was struck and knocked down by a car driven by Mrs. Laura B. Marquis of the Casa Loma apartments at the corner of Washington street and Fair Oaks avenue, and T. M. Pierce of No. 190 West Union street was struck by a motorcycle ridden by D. C. Swanson of No. 1014 Palm Terrace. Mr. Pierce was in a wheel chair when he was injured.

The little girl was injured internally, just how badly is not yet known. Mr. Pierce suffered a concussion of the brain, and, after emergency treatment at the Emergency Hospital, was taken to the County Hospital. The girl was taken home.

Helen Collins had gone to the street car line to meet her mother. Mrs. Marquis was driving south on Fair Oaks avenue. According to the latter's report to the police, Mrs. Collins stepped off the car, and, as she started for the sidewalk, her daughter left the curb and ran to meet her, not noticing the approaching automobile, which knocked her down. The child was taken to the Receiving Hospital and then home.

Mr. Pierce was crossing the street in a wheel chair at Lake avenue and Santa Barbara street when the motorcycle crashed into him. It is said that the driver of the motorcycle turned aside to avoid a collision with another machine and struck the wheel chair.

Deposed Police Chief Fails to Reveal Alleged Facts of Startling Nature.

VENICE, Nov. 22.—Although a series of startling revelations were looked for at the meeting of the City Trustees tonight, former Chief of Police Reynolds failed to make good his threats. His statement consisted chiefly of a plea to have the Trustees clear his name of any intentional wrongdoing. He justified his inability to cope with crime conditions on the ground that, though his police powers extended to 120,000 people, he had but fourteen policemen to handle the work.

Rev. Russell E. Starke, who presided at the meeting at which William G. Lutz was appointed Trustee to fill the position vacated by Trustee Charles N. Smart, last night took sides against Lutz, stating that Lutz's claim that he took the initial step in cleaning up Venice was untrue. Lutz, he asserted, had appeared before the District Attorney and given information, but not of a character to be of much assistance in accomplishing the object sought.

FROSTED GRAPES CAUSE BOY'S DEATH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TULARE, Nov. 22.—Funeral services were held here today for Clarence, the 13-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Kerns, a resident of the suburban district, who died last night from poisoning induced, physicians say, by eating a quantity of frosted grapes.

The boy was taken ill Thursday of last week, after he had eaten a quantity of the fruit, and his condition grew steadily worse until death ensued.

FAILS TO APPOINT NEW SUPERVISOR.

GOVERNOR CONSIDERS THREE CANDIDATES TO FILL NORTON'S PLACE.

By the Watchman.

Gov. Stephens last night was still undecided as to whom he will appoint to succeed R. H. Norton, deposed Supervisor. The announcement was made at the executive offices in the Union League Building that the Governor had not made up his mind in reference to the appointment and may not do so for several days.

Friends of the various candidates besieged the Governor throughout the day. So many nice things were said about each of the aspirants that the Chief Executive was more "in the air" when night came than he has been since the race began.

While boosters for E. J. Delorey continued their campaign with "unabated fury," there were no developments during the day tending to inflate that candidate's stock. One person who interviewed the Governor made this statement:

"Gov. Stephens, of course, did not say whom he will appoint, but I gathered from his conversation that he has about eliminated Delorey. He told me that with several candidates in the field he is bound to make enemies, no matter whether he selects the best man or not. He added that he might offend the fewest if he should decide not to appoint Delorey."

In the event Mr. Delorey is no longer in the running, the Governor must be sizing up from every angle the three others who are hard after the job. Of these there is reason to believe that Fred Pierce is gaining ground. He is a personal friend of the Governor. This friendship is of long standing, and it would not be surprising if Mr. Pierce is accepted as a compromise candidate.

Mark Jones is also looming up as a gaining candidate. His chances are good.

No doubt the Governor continues to give serious consideration to Dr. F. C. Langdon and J. H. Bean. Ordinarily enough pressure has been brought to bear for each of them to make it an even bet that one would land the plum. However, it is known that one very strong political agency is opposed to Dr. Langdon, and in the case of Mr. Bean he faces that unfavorable situation of being an elective officer out for an appointment.

LOST, HE FACES SLACKER CHARGE.

Thomas Keagan, who has been in the County Jail for the past three months and was seemingly forgotten by the Federal authorities, was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Hammack on a slacker charge.

Inquiry disclosed the fact that Keagan had registered at El Centro, although at the time he was over the draft age, his mother and sister testified. The records of the Catholic church at Willcox, Ariz., have been sent for to substantiate their statements. Why the young man was allowed to remain in the County Jail so long without a hearing, is unexplained.

MANY MILES OF FILMS FILCHED.

New Way to Get Rich Quick is Uncovered.

Studio Employee and Dealer Placed Under Arrest.

Loot Would Reach from City to Newport Beach.

The alleged theft of a little more than fifty-seven miles of motion-picture films from the Fox Film Company was revealed yesterday through the arrest of A. E. Davies, an employee of the company, and Arthur Horsley, a dealer in motion-picture supplies. They were taken into custody by attaches of the Sheriff's office and a detective agency upon a complaint issued by Deputy District Attorney Powell. Wade Mullen, a camera man of the Fox company, was arrested also by operatives of the detective agency that had been working on the case for some days. It is said that additional arrests may be made. The intimation is that a plot for a further wholesale theft of films has been aborted.

Davies, it is said, was in charge of the stockroom of the Fox Film Company. The company began missing films. Their value finally totaled about $15,000. A private detective agency was employed to discover the leak. A trap was set, and Davies, it is said, was the first one to fall into it. For three weeks another employee of the company was placed under surveillance. In the interim thousands of feet of films were recovered.

The second man to be arrested was Horsley. It is asserted that during September and October Horsley received 45,000 feet of the missing films from the Fox company storeroom. On the 14th inst., it is said, he bought 16,000 feet of additional film from Mullen.

Suspicion was directed towards Mullen, it is said, because he was frequently seen going to a locker in the warehouse of the Hollywood Fireproof Storage Company. The officers say that Davies placed the stolen films in this locker, and that Mullen and others suspected in the plot to steal the films visited the same, got the films and took them to Horsley's establishment.

According to an alleged partial confession made by Davies, Horsley paid 2 1-8 cents a foot for the positive negatives and 2¼ cents a foot for the negative ones. The films are reputed to be worth 4½ cents a foot.

BATHE INTERNALLY

OVER 500,000 PEOPLE ARE NOW DOING SO.

For many years physicians have agreed that the vast majority of human ills were caused by accumulated waste in the Lower Intestine; that in our present way of living Nature could not remove all this waste without assistance, no matter how regular we might be—and that the poison from this waste circulated through the blood pulled us away down below par and was responsible for many diseases of a serious nature.

During this time the "J. B. L. Cascade" for Internal Bathing has, because of their recommendation and those of its users, been steadily growing in favor.

Recently, however, the startling news which has been covering this country that great surgeons and specialists have been operating on the Lower Intestine for the most chronic and serious diseases has caused Americans to become thoroughly awake to the importance of keeping this Lower Intestine free from all poisonous waste matter, and over 500,000 are now using Internal Bathing.

If you try the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable—the poisonous waste makes us bilious, blue, dull and nervous. Internal Baths are Nature's own cure for Constipation—just warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

W. H. Anderson made the opening statement to the jury for the plaintiff. He began to speak at the opening of court yesterday morning and closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

He spent much time defining the law of libel, declared that the question of motive or absence of motive is absolutely immaterial in considering compensatory damages, and that truth is the only defense for libel. He declared that the mere fact that Mr. Sleeth denied he held any malice is not sufficient if the article is libelous.

Then Attorney Anderson took up the closing phrase in the article upon which suit has been brought: "Now, go to it, you filth-flingers," and tossed it back and forth with many oratorical flourishes. He declared that the term "boss" is not libelous, but objected that the evil of the term was that it coupled "his boss-ship" up with the campaign of W. T. Helms "in such black colors that it would be a most infamous shame in any man in any community."

"I must admit," said Attorney Anderson, "that I think some of those detectives did try to put something over on Mr. Earl, because in my presence George Kelch refused to tell Mr. Earl what he was doing with the money Mr. Earl furnished."

After reviewing Earl's activities, Mr. Anderson said he didn't want the jury to be prejudiced against Mr. Earl because he employed detectives, and said:

"Mr. Earl employed detectives as probably every large business man does."

FORD'S ADDRESS.

In the course of his address, Mr. Ford said:

If a democracy is to endure, if a democracy is to survive, if the principle of the rule of the people, by the people and for the people is to endure, no man should be allowed to acquire a position that is known to us by the modern American term, "political boss." Did you ever hear of a modern American political boss, when he is caught with the goods, ever admitting that he was actuated by anything but the highest and noblest of motives? Abe Ruef, Boss Tweed, Platt, the easy boss, Mat Tway, even though at all times were accused of being political bosses, denied that they were political bosses. They said, "I have only exercised my right and my duty as a public-spirited citizen to take an active interest in the af-

Serious Charges.

DIVORCE SUIT IS FILED BY MRS. CHALMERS GRAY.

MRS. GLADYS N. GRAY, who was the widow of the late Volney Gage, son of ex-Gov. Henry T. Gage, filed suit here yesterday for divorce from Chalmers C. Gray, son of Mrs. Ysadora Couts Fuller, San Diego society matron, and one of the heirs to the De Baker estate.

Mrs. Gray's divorce petition was filed yesterday by Attorneys George J. Denis and Ingall W. Bull. In her petition Mrs. Gray alleges that her husband is an idle, profligate, and dissipated person. He is accused by her of having mortgaged his mother's herd of cattle, taken his wife's diamond ring without her consent, and of a statutory offense.

The petition alleges that Mr. Gray took his wife's $175 diamond and sold it to Mrs. Max Murray of San Diego; that he converted $500 worth of stock in the Mexican Petroleum Company into cash without his wife's knowledge, and used it for his own purposes, and that he borrowed money from banks on two occasions, giving mortgages against a herd of cattle belonging to Mrs. Fuller.

The couple were married in Los Angeles June 11, 1913. They have a son aged 3 years. The mother wants the custody of this boy. She alleges that the husband left her and the child without means of support from February 6 to April 15 of this year, after which she took up her abode at the Gage residence in this city.

One of the accusations is that Mr. Gray frequently bought candy for a girl who worked in a San Diego garage, having the sweets charged, and that his mother paid the bill. It is further alleged that he went to Mission Beach with a young wom-

Training School.

CAMP KEARNY MEN GIVEN CHANCE TO BE OFFICERS.

Construction Work Practically Finished at the Cantonment.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMP KEARNY, Nov. 22.—Enlisted men at Camp Kearny are to be given a fine chance to become candidates for the officers' training camp which will be opened January 5 at Camp Kearny. Commissioned officers of the Fortieth division are authorized to select 1.7 per cent. of the entire enlisted personnel of the division for candidates in the school for officers' commissions. In preparation for this, officers today heard lectures by E. K. Strong, Jr., a civilian of the War Department, on classification of personnel in the army. Mr. Strong explained the qualifications necessary for officers and told how to select the candidates for the new training schol. This morning he lectured to the officers of the Sixty-fifth Field Artillery, this afternoon to the medical officers and the Eightieth Infantry Brigade officers, and this evening to the officers of the Seventy-ninth Infantry Brigade, the One Hundred and Fifteenth Engineers, and the One Hundred and Fifteenth Engineer Train.

Mr. Strong is working with Capt. Kempner, personnel officer, who has been classifying every man in the division, according to qualifications. In this way the enlisted man has a splendid opportunity to join the officers' training school, and if he makes good, to secure a commission. The officers' school is the third to be held here.

TENNIS COURT COMPLETED.

One of the two tennis courts at division headquarters is now completed, and some swift tournaments will be staged soon by the officers. When both courts are completed it is the intention of the officers to invite some of the tennis stars from Los Angeles and the north to come down and give a Red Cross benefit tennis tournament. Maurice McLoughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bundy, Miss Florence Sutton and other tennis celebrities will be invited to take part. The courts have a clay foundation with three inches of concrete, and are a matter of much pride among the officers who are keen on tennis. About twenty of the headquarters officers are bidding for the use of the courts for games.

Maj. Charles H. Nichols, Engineer Corps, who has been in charge of the construction of the big camp, has just about completed his colossal job. For the first time since August, when the camp construction was begun, the office of Maj. Nichols and his chief assistant, Capt. O. C. Wyman, is quiet. With the tremendous job of building the cantonment practically completed, the busy construction engineers, stenographers and clerks have let up on the break-neck speed at which they all worked to get the army city ready for the troops. They even have time to dream of the marvelous changes that have taken place at Linda Vista. Since that day of August a great city of miles of tents, mess-houses and headquarters buildings, surrounded by lawns and city streets of asphalt, peopled with thousands of khaki-clad men, has replaced the rough brush-covered mesa, covered with piles of lumber and building materials.

The civilian construction men who built the camp, the W. E. Hampton Company, will not leave Camp Kearny, however, until Thanksgiving Day. About a thousand men are still employed by the construction company over the camp. The contract for the camp which they are just finishing, which was a plus cost basis, amounts to $2,500,000.

FIX WAGES FOR WOMEN.

An order was issued yesterday by the State Industrial Welfare Commission fixing minimum rates of wages for women and minors employed in laundries and dry-cleaning establishments in California. The rate fixed is $10 a week for experienced help, that is, one who has been employed in the industry fifteen months or longer. The minimum rate for inexperienced employees, or learners, is $8 a week for the first six months, and $9 for the second six months.

The order also provides for an eight-hour day. It is to become effective on January 14 next.

Arrested.

PAINTER SAYS HE FIRED BIG PLANT BY ACCIDENT.

THE police yesterday arrested Fred M. Ball, a former employee of the Hauser Packing Company. He admitted that he set fire to the building on Wednesday evening, but the mystery of the arson plot remained as baffling as ever. Ball says the fire was an accident and denied that he cut the fire alarm wires. The alarm system had been tested on Monday by the city fire department and found in perfect working condition. The wires were cut and the system out of order at the time of the fire.

Ball is 47 years old and lives at No. 1217 South Hobart boulevard. He was discharged by Supt. Jackson of the Hauser company yesterday morning for smoking on the premises. In the afternoon he was arrested by Detectives McDuff, Williams and McNamara and is held for investigation.

In his statement to Captain of Detectives George K. Home, Ball said:

"I did it myself, I guess. I was scraping in the refinery building about 6 o'clock. It got dark. I lost the scraper when it dropped on the floor. I had a part of a can of gasoline or benzine in my hand and I struck a match to find the scraper. It ignited the can of gasoline or benzine.

"I carried it out as far as I could and I burned my hand. I grabbed a sack and got a hose and turned it on and told the boys to come and help me put the fire out."

Ball was employed in the Hauser plant as a painter. He had been working there ten days when the fire occurred. He denied that he is a pro-German. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the doctors reported that he had "third degree" burns on his right hand.

He lives with his wife and daughter, the latter being a school teacher, Ball said. He came to this city on July 15, last, from Elgin, Ill., where he asserts he was born.

The arrest followed the action of the Federal and police authorities in going through the entire list of Hauser employees in an effort to locate alien enemies of the United States or others who might not be loyal to this country.

Yesterday the entire Hauser plant was placed on a war basis. Each employee was given a metal button with a registered number, and absolute identification must be made before the guard at the gate will even admit employees. Extra guards were placed around the twenty-two acres of grounds.

Remarkable Allegation.

SOLDIERS AID PACIFISTS, LETTER IN TRIAL STATES.

EVIDENCE which may lead to an investigation by Federal agents was introduced yesterday at the trial of Rev. Floyd Harden, Rev. Robert Whitaker and Harold S. Storey, pacifists on trial before Police Judge White at Normal Hill Center on a charge of conducting an illegal assembly on October 1.

The evidence was contained in letters read into the testimony by Assistant City Prosecutor Richards and contained information to the effect that uniformed men in a "southern concentration camp" are distributing pacifist literature and that a member of the Y.M.C.A. in a Southern California city is also working for the "conscientious objectors."

The first letter read by Prosecutor Richards was addressed to Miss Luella Secor, organizing secretary of the People's Council for Democracy and Peace in New York. It is alleged to have been dispatched East by one of the men now being tried. In part, it is as follows:

"I have several soldiers working for me, distributing literature and explaining the significance of the movement (the People's Council) within the ranks. A good many of the soldiers assert 'You fellows are fighting at home for the same thing that they are sending us to Europe for.' I also have one young fellow in the war section of the Y.M.C.A. working for me and he is doing exceptionally fine work for the People's Council."

The statements in this letter are flatly denied by those chiefly concerned.

Detective Jack Finlinson, who was one of the men who arrested the three pacifists, testified that he had been told by Miss Marie Gage, local secretary of the organization, that the purpose of the pacifists was to oppose as much as possible the conscription law. He said he had attended all of their meetings in this city and that, contrary to their statements, he never saw one of the speakers take a text from or read sections of the Bible.

Malevolent.

GERMAN MONEY USED IN PLOT?

Startling Evidence is Found by Secret Service Men.

Letter of I.W.W. Secretary Reveals Dark Workings.

Arrest Two Here in Round-up of Traitorous Crew.

Evidence that the Fresno I.W.W. now under Federal indictment, are in communication with the German authorities, and possibly receive financial assistance from the imperial government, was uncovered here yesterday with the arrest of two alleged members of the traitorous crew and the seizure of a large quantity of literature and correspondence here and at the harbor.

Letters in the hands of the secret service agents, one from Charles McWhirt of Fresno, who is under indictment at Chicago, and is now in that city awaiting trial, and an answer to that missive written by Dan Buckley, general secretary of the national I.W.W., indicate as much, it is asserted. In the letter claimed to have been written by McWhirt he stated that he had not received any money from Germany recently, and Buckley in reply says that he has not even received any money from the Bulgarians or the "unspeakable" Turks.

Philip McLoughlin, alleged secretary of the Los Angeles branch of the I.W.W., was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Shelley Walton, at No. 114 South Spring street. McLoughlin was indicted by the Federal grand jury at Fresno, a few days ago.

H. Stredwick, alleged secretary of the harbor local union, and a member, it is charged, of the Executive Committee of what is known as the "Darks," was taken into custody by Deputy United States Marshal Cavenaugh at No. 253 Fourth street, at the harbor, Wednesday night. Stredwick was indicted also by the Fresno grand jury. Three others similarly charged and indicted have left the jurisdiction of the southern district of California, and cannot be located.

Like the balance of the outfit indicted at Fresno, both McLoughlin and Stredwick are held in bond of $5000, which of course they cannot raise. They will be held here until January 15, the date set for the trial of the charge against the score now in jail at Fresno.

McLoughlin is said to be one of the best known of the local I.W.W. colony. The day the grand jury indictment was returned at Fresno, he called, it is said, upon Assistant United States District Attorney Palmer, and demanded an invoice of the books, letters, memoranda, etc., found by the police when the headquarters of the I.W.W. were raided by the police, several months ago. Needless to say, he did not get what he wanted.

Stredwick was about to leave his

COUNTY LINES ARE RECAST.

Map to be Made Over Because of the City's Trespassing.

The city of Los Angeles has cut so largely into various townships that it is deemed advisable to re-establish the lines in order to fix the election districts. A committee consisting of the Sheriff, County Auditor, County Counsel, County Surveyor and the secretary of the Civil Service Commission, having the matter in hand, conferred with the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

At this conference it was suggested that two townships be formed by dividing at Ballona avenue, through Lomita, Gardena, Redondo and a portion of Inglewood townships lying south of the west coast annexation.

Another suggestion is that the boundary line of San Gabriel, Belvedere and San Antonio townships be changed to form a new township. The city of Monterey Park now lies in three different townships.

Practically all of Owensmouth township is in the city limits and the township has been abolished. A large slice was taken out of Inglewood, Malibu, Calabasas and Chatsworth townships.

OFFICER SAVES MAN.

Patrolman Mentioned for Bravery for Dragging Pedestrian from Under a Street Car.

Officer E. D. Brown of the "round-up" squad, whose duty is to arrest all vagrants, was mentioned yesterday to Chief Butler for bravery. According to a report made to the Chief by Capt. Murray, in charge of central division, Officer Brown was at Temple and Main streets, with his partner, A. L. Waugh, when J. B. Nelson, a laborer, was struck and knocked under a passing street car. Officer Brown, at the risk of his own life, jumped forward and dragged the man from under the car just in time to save him.

Gabriel Guilty.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER FOUND

Jury Recommends Life Term for Shaw Slayer.

Convicted Man Thankful that Life is Spared.

Verdict is Reached After a Short Deliberation.

Murder in the first degree, with life imprisonment recommended, was the verdict returned at 8:35 o'clock last evening by the jury trying Harry A. Gabriel for murder in Superior Judge Willis's court.

Gabriel received the verdict with indifference. He showed not the slightest emotion. Neither did he change facial color.

The young mining engineer from Goldfield, Nev., convicted of one of the most cold-blooded crimes in the criminal annals of Los Angeles, turned his back upon the jurors as they filed by him upon leaving the jury box. He was engrossed in congratulating his attorney, Dudley Robinson, in having saved him from the scaffold.

"That is as good as we could have expected; even better," said the young man, as he smiled, and lifted an unlighted cigar to his mouth.

The case was given to the jury at 4:30 o'clock. At 6 o'clock the jurymen were taken to dinner. Within less than half an hour after they returned a verdict was arrived at.

P. C. Love, the foreman, said that the first ballot showed that the jury was not unanimous as to the guilt of the young man. A compromise was effected through the elimination of the death sentence.

Attorney Robinson expressed a doubt as to whether he will appeal the case.

"I only promised his relatives that I would save his life," continued the attorney. "I have done that, and think I am fortunate."

Gabriel will be arraigned for sentence next Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Gabriel shot and killed Roy Shaw, a San Francisco chauffeur, in their connecting apartments at the Hayward Hotel on the morning of September 12. The motive, according to the authorities, was the theft on the part of the defendant of Shaw's auto.

The prosecution, which was conducted by Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes, wove what was considered a strong chain of circumstantial evidence around the young man.

"Damnable Influence."

ATTORNEY FORD FLAYS EARL IN JURY SPEECH.

fairs of this community. I have not consulted my own selfish interests in advocating this man or that man for office. I have only exercised my God-given American right to favor such candidates as I please, to oppose those whom I wish to oppose. I have done nothing except what any American citizen has a right to do." And they say, "Look at this fact," and "Look at that fact that I favor," and they can always say with truth that there are some matters which they have advocated which are for the benefit of the community.

WHAT THEY ALL SAY.

They can always get good men of the community to come in and say that they believe that this measure was for the benefit of the community, or that that measure was for the benefit of the community, and that they believe that man's motives were above suspicion, that he had no ulterior motives, that he did what he did only for the good of the community; for the American political boss is a "cuttlefish"—he is always sending out his inky flow around him, telling of his advocacy of this good measure and of that good measure, so that while you are looking at that good thing that he is accomplishing or looking at this good thing that he is accomplishing, he can get away with something that you do not see. That is true of every political boss, and it is true that many of these political bosses start out not only with the noblest of motives, with not only the most sincere purposes. There never was a political boss who achieved any degree of success but who became obsessed with an idiotic desire for personal power and a blind hatred for those that opposed him, that caused him, independently of any desire for personal gain, independently of any desire to put something into his own pocket, to do that which he ought not to do, to trample upon the rights of democracy. And in this very State I claim that in spite of our desire to abolish the American political boss here by abolishing conventions, by placing the power of the vote in the hands of the people at a direct primary, to make it possible for a poor man, like Capt. Helms, to run for office without having to consult the rich to get assistance, we have had the direct primary frustrated so that no poor man can run for office unless he finds some disinterested rich man who represents the community well enough to put up $10,000 to advocate his sacred cause for the people at the direct primary.

It is not the fault of the direct primary, I doubt if there is any means that you can devise that will guard against the influence of wealth, guard against the power of the press and guard against the insidious machinations of hired stool pigeons, hole-borers, hired detectives, hired significants and flatterers that always gather around a man of character in order that they may pick up a few of the crumbs that fall from the tables of the rich. I doubt if there is any means by which we can forestall anything of that kind unless we go back to the principles that were advocated in ancient times.

I tell you, gentlemen of the jury, the Kaiser, who has plunged this world into war, I believe honestly and sincerely thinks that he is fighting a battle for civilization. He honestly and sincerely thinks that the German people would be better off under his benevolent despotism. There are many things about this war that have shown that an autocracy such as that of the German empire makes for efficiency in times of war and bloodshed — no doubt about it—but it is a maxim of American government that we would rather be poorly ruled by ourselves than well ruled by any autocracy, however benevolent. The German Kaiser, no doubt, can point to some benefits that come from autocracy. Mr. Earl can no doubt point to some benefits to this community that have come by reason of the power and influence and wealth that he has acquired in this community — not a doubt about it. I do not deny that Mr. Earl has done some good things in this city; I do not claim that everything Mr. Earl has done is bad; I do not claim that everything Mr. Earl has done was done with an ulterior motive; not a bit of it. I do not claim that Mr. Earl has not the right as an individual to support such candidates as he may choose to support. I do not claim that he has not the right to oppose such candidates for office as he may choose to oppose. That is his God-given right as an American citizen. I do not claim that he has not a right to make contributions to such causes as may be worthy, even to causes of political campaigns, but I do claim that when he contributes money in large sums, it cannot be contributed by single individuals without a corrupting influence. I do not care whether Mr. Earl had any desire to dictate to W. T. Helms, or not. I do know that W. T. Helms, elected under those circumstances, and elected under circumstances which would place him under the tremendous obligations he would be under to the plaintiff in this case—I say that simply as my suggestion—accompanied by the disclaimer: I am not the boss of this town nor of this county; Mr. Helms, you are the District Attorney; I am only making a suggestion to you—that behind those soft words, and behind that disclaimer, would come the imperative voice of the obligations under which that man was to the plaintiff; because, if he did not follow the suggestions, the fatherly advice that was given by the man who elected him to office; if he was not always loyal to you, Mr. Earl, and loyal to your interests as your man Norton was—he said so himself in his letter—if he was not those, then he was a damned ingrate, just like Woolwine.

EARLISM: KULTUR.

Now, gentlemen, let us see, just like a shadow of suspicion, or "a shadow or a shade," I think you called it; "shadow of a shade"—that is a very fine thing—"a shadow of a shade," of a suspicion of an ulterior motive on the part of Mr. Earl, you say, that the circumstances surrounding the political conditions in this city is a menace to democracy. Little good would it do for us to place over there in Europe our billions of treasure, our thousands and thousands of boys' lives—and I wish to God I was able to go with them—and I wish to God I was able to go with them to place them without injury back with their families—to come over here and fight for republican institutions, if, under the cover of republican institutions, instead of the Kaiser Kultur, we have Earl and Earlism in this case. I intend to analyze the situation as it existed here for years and years, so far as the evidence in this case has disclosed it. I want to say to you, if I can, and I believe I can, that you have your opportunity right here in Los Angeles just as much as if you were holding up bombs in your hands in the trenches of far-off Flanders; and it is just as much your patriotic duty to see that the libel suit is used, not for the purpose of protecting the power of the press, but for the purpose of protecting individuals against the power of the press. The libel suit was invented to protect you and me from the idiotic desire for personal power that will equip the successful publisher who has built up a large circulation and an influence in a community so that we may walk in freedom notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Earl owns the Express and Tribune.

HIS USE OF IT.

But, instead of using it for that purpose, this man builds up a tremendous political power, not only by his wealth, his rat-hole borers, his detectives, his significants, his flatterers and his newspapers—he not only builds it up, but wants to use the libel suit to protect that power which he has built up, from criticism on the part of you or me, and on the part of a newspaper that dares to attack him in this community.

I am going to reverse the procedure followed by Mr. Anderson. I am going to discuss Mr. Earl as shown in this evidence before I discuss what the Record said about him. I want to show you the facts, because you want to know all the facts in this case before you can arrive at a verdict. You will be told that this evidence shall be considered for this purpose only, and you will be told that other evidence shall be considered by you for that purpose only; but when you come to fixing damages in this case, that is a matter that cannot be controlled, because that is within the discretion of you gentlemen of the jury. If you find that any damages should be awarded at all—and I think you will not—claim for yourself.

That is all this fight is, gentlemen of the jury. That is all there is to it. It is not "Yanckwich;" it is not anything but "Earl" and "Earlism." Democracy is against Earlism, our right to live in this community free from the damning influence of a newspaper proprietor who desires to prostitute his newspapers through the advocacy of political principles in which he is favored and inspired by a blind hatred of everything that opposes him in a desire to tear down everything that stands in the way of his idiotic desire for personal power. (Adjournment for day.)

WOMAN BARBER IS REASON FOR SUIT.

HER MINISTRATIONS MISCONSTRUED SAYS HUBBY—WIFE DENIED DECREE.

Circumstantial evidence proved a failure in the Miser divorce suit. As Mrs. Mary C. Miser told, in Judge Wood's court yesterday, the occasion of seeing a strange woman with her arms around the neck of her husband, Lafayette D. Miser, "looking up into his eyes," the evidence sounded convincing.

Mr. Miser then told the story and it seemed altogether plausible.

The strange woman was a "lady barber," he said; an old friend who had promised to dye his hair and long flowing mustache. He admitted that like Sairy Gamp, she did not object to ardent spirits. In short, the lady barber liked alcohol. So Mr. Miser brought home a bottle of alcohol, and after dyeing his hair and mustache, his friend was in the act of peeking under his mustache to see if she had missed any gray hairs.

The little comedy was played on a screen porch, but in view of a neighbor woman who testified she saw the couple.

But thus it came about that after a quarter of a century of married life, the Miser's parted company, all on account of the lady barber.

"I cannot grant a decree in this case," said Judge Wood. "The property matter can be adjusted out of court. I am inclined to believe that Mrs. Miser saw what she testified to. It was a very suspicious circumstance, and I don't wonder she was suspicious when her husband brought to his home an alcohol-drinking lady barber."

STREET ASSESSMENT SWINDLERS SCORED.

CITY OFFICIAL TO PUT END TO UNSCRUPULOUS TAX PRACTICES.

President Lorin A. Handley of the Board of Public Works yesterday declared war against the unscrupulous practice of certain persons in flimflamming taxpayers by compelling them to pay exorbitant assessments on street improvements. He said he had learned that many persons have been swindled out of sums ranging from $5 to $30.

The street improvement act permits contractors to sue for delinquent assessments for street work. When an individual is sued the attorney fee is $15, the court cost $6 and there are other incidental expenses.

One citizen reported to the board that he went to pay an assessment of $2.29 for improvement of Virginia street, Van Nuys, and found that the bill had grown to more than $30. This started an investigation and President Handley said that notices to taxpayers often "somehow" fail to get to them and a suit follows.

"This practice must be stopped," said President Handley. "I am going to the bottom of the matter and see what can be done."

RAILWAY'S VICTOR.

The Los Angeles Railway Company was the winner in Judge Taft's court yesterday when judgment was given in its favor in the suit of Miss Marie Jamison, a milliner, for injuries sustained when she was injured at Main and Thirty-first streets. The street car struck her automobile and she alleged negligence on the part of the company. The latter charged that the driver of the machine was negligent.

DIVED FOR COIN LOSES HUBBY.

Swimmer Goes on Players' Circuit and Came Back Homeless; Divorced.

In order to aid in meeting the household expenses, Mrs. Victoria Wolfe told Judge Jackson in her divorce proceedings yesterday that she worked as a cashier in a store. Finally she decided to go on the stage, applying her talents as a diver and swimmer to a monetary account. She obtained an engagement on the Orpheum circuit and after diving around the circuit, she looked up her husband, Frederick L. Wolfe, and was rejected by him. The pair were married in 1911 and separated about three years ago. The decree was granted.

Clean your home as hospitals are cleaned

Hospitals wage constant and successful war against disease germs by the daily use of Lysol disinfectant.

Disease germs enter homes, also. Wherever refuse collects, in garbage cans, sinks, toilets, old plumbing, and sunless corners, disease germs breed into millions and menace health. Plain water-washing does not destroy these germs. But the hospital disinfectant, Lysol, does exterminate germs on the instant of contact.

Lysol Disinfectant

You can and should use Lysol in every washing of the home, in cleaning every danger spot. Do it for safety. A 50c bottle of Lysol makes five gallons of absolutely germ-killing solution; a 25c bottle makes two gallons. Lysol is also in $1 bottles—sold everywhere. It has invaluable effect in personal hygiene.

True Lysol—that used in scientifically conducted hospitals—is that made, bottled, signed, and sealed by Lehn & Fink. Accept only such.

Lysol Toilet Soap
Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshingly soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't got it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream
Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound), guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order a supply for you.

Fulfill This Sacred Duty Now

—it will give you genuine satisfaction

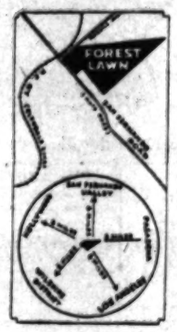
Too often the sacred duty of providing a final resting place for our loved ones has been left until the press of necessity has permitted little or no choice. Arrangements hurriedly concluded at such times are frequently found, when measured by later and calmer judgment, to have been wholly unwise. An ever increasing number of people are wisely making their arrangements now when certain unusual advantages are being offered at Forest Lawn Memorial-Park.

The approaching completion of this great project marks an epoch in mortuary affairs. No memorial park has been built in this country which includes, as does this, every form of burial all under one management, nor with a plan so comprehensive and beautiful.

The Mausoleum-Columbarium—the only structure of its kind in the United States securely and imperishably united with the eternal rock of nature.

Forest Lawn Memorial-Park provides every form of interment — earth burial, mausoleum crypt, cremation, columbarium niche or private vault, all under one management and with one perpetual care fund guarded by the laws of California.

The Little Church of the Flowers, noteworthy among mortuary chapels for its exquisite beauty. Crematory and Receiving Vaults are adjacent.



Not only does Forest Lawn Memorial-Park combine every known mortuary necessity under one management, but its immense perpetual care fund is heavily endowed and administered by men favorably known in financial circles and men experienced in mortuary affairs.

Thus the investor has the perpetual care and upkeep of his cemetery lot, mausoleum crypt or columbarium niche secured for all time.

There is no better time to act on this matter than the present. An investment of this character should be regarded as insurance and the management of Forest Lawn Memorial-Park encourages the fulfillment of this duty at a time when the investor is best able to care for such inevitable obligations.

Who entertained recently with a luncheon and knitting party at the Los Angeles Country Club in honor of Mrs. George Uhl of San Francisco and Mrs. Emil Kehrline.

WOMEN'S WORK. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The Friday Morning Club will spend a merry morning today, for the programme takes the form of a clever playlet, entitled "Every Woman Goes Shopping." It will be under the direction of Miss Florence Moore, who has borrowed several talented saleswomen from the department stores to take the part of the sellers, while club members will play the roles of buyers, making it all highly realistic, so that art will not in this instance be called upon to improve upon nature. Incidentally, while the play will be entertaining and humorous, we are to have a very real lesson in first-class salesmanship, which is decidedly apropos, in that we are all Red Cross sellers or benefit sellers of some kind nowadays.

The luncheon guests will be Mme. Montessori and her interpreter, who, together, will give an enlightening talk on Italy, which is much in the public eye just now. Miss Agnes Coleman Lee of the Y.W.C.A. will talk also on the objects of the coming "drive" for funds.

Following the luncheon, the Red Cross section will have a concert programme in the auditorium, of which the piece de resistance will be Anna Held's famous war talk, in which she will tell her intimate experiences in the hospitals behind the lines in France. Miss Zoo Fuller is also on the programme for some clever dramatic interpretations, for which she has musical accompaniments.

Venice Vacation Home.

The Vacation Home at Venice, which was founded in 1908 and has been burdened with debt ever since, celebrated the burning of its mortgage last Wednesday.

Mrs. E. Rundel, the president, performed the pleasant ceremony and the building is now the sole property of the league. There are no administration expenses, as the work is essentially a labor of love.

The home was provided as a haven for girls and women, who, needing rest and brief respites from sore cares and responsibilities, get it there under the best of surroundings. In its nine years of existence it has proved the means of restoring many such to health and hope, by co-operating with the county charities the County Hospital, the Juvenile Court, Y.W.C.A., Pasadena Welfare Bureau, the Jewish Benevolent Society and such like institutions.

FRIVOLS.

Agitation.

EDDIE FOY'S GANG.

OLD MAN KICKS ON KIDS' HARD DEMANDS.

And now some nice old lady in Cincinnati, who eats nuts and writes to the President to stop the war at once, has started an agitation to take Eddie Foy's children away from him and put them in some nice, warm asylum, where they won't have to work on the stage any more!

"What do I think about it?" said Eddie yesterday; "well, I just hope there aren't many squirrels loose around where that old lady lives, that's all! Besides, what have I against any orphan asylum, I should like to know?

"Say, you never were the father of seven healthy kids, were you? No? Then you don't know what a hard life is. Now here are these warm-hearted people trying to save my children. Why doesn't some one save me?

"But did anybody ever try to get Eddie into a nice, warm asylum where seven burglars couldn't throw him down and turn his pockets inside out every day or two? Nobody. Those kids come and climb into my bed in the morning and wake me up before I've had my beauty sleep. Why, they work shifts on me, there are so many of them! At my age I ought to be able to have a warm corner in the old people's home. Instead, I am dragged by this gang around the country and exhibited to be laughed at.

"And say, you know I've got to pay every one of those seven robbers weekly. When you pay an ordinary troupe salaries, they have to defray their own hotels bills. Do my Thespians pay their hotel bills? They do not. They charge it to papa. They've got a tutor and a bunch of maids and governesses to travel around with them. Does papa have a tutor to tell him that cat is seldom spelled with a 'k'? He does not. Does papa have a governess? No. Mamma would knock his block off if he even spoke to one."

Fire-to-Frying-pan Note.

Jack Richardson, Bill Desmond's official picture punching bag, is going to war to get a little peace!

He Bit a Cop.

Anna Held should worry if all the soldiers go to France. For does there not still remain Ting d'Tourelles? Ting d'Tourelles is only a little Pekinese spaniel, but his spirit is mighty within him, and he permits no one to annoy his fair mistress.

So yesterday, when Miss Held was journeying downtown in a taxicab, and a big, rude cop stuck his head through the window, at a busy street crossing, informing the actress that she was on the wrong side of the street or something, little Ting d'Tourelles just naturally, in his zeal of protection, leaped right out of the machine onto the burly policeman's neck; and it was only after quite a spell of earnest reasoning on Miss Held's part that the animal consented to understand that a cop was acting within his powers.

Fair-but-False Item.

Never, never again will Helen Gill, the lovely young woman who makes her debut as "second lead" in "Romance" at the Morosco next week—never, never again, we say, will Miss Gill pick gay little flowers and leaves she doesn't know anything about.

As the result of one such innocent sounding experience, Miss Gill is all broken out with a pretty little rash which festoons her chin and drapes itself over her eyebrows. In short, while driving among the Santa Monica foothills a few days ago the young lady contracted a case of poison oak, and has now sworn off gathering strange and unknown posies in wild and bosky dells.

Puts Theater on Map.

Al Nathan, manager of the Superba Theater, is in San Francisco representing Carl Laemmle in the opening of the Alhambra Theater, just purchased by the Universal interests.

Prayers for the Elks.

Just as if Harry Duffield didn't have enough to do, playing a role every night at the Morosco and studying a new role for the following week, now he's rehearsing every day as chaplain of the Elks, in order to be letter-perfect in the exercises which he will lead at midnight on December 2. The ceremonies have to do with the dedication of a new Elks' hall at Inglewood, and Mr. Duffield is authority for the statement that "Hamlet" is a Keystone comedy compared with the impressiveness of said ceremonies.

Panacea Item.

It will be a positive pleasure to be ill or dog-tired very soon now, providing you are a woman and are attending the new Kinema Theater. This glad news is brought us by the advance agents of said theater, who, somewhat floridly perhaps, describe the restroom which is to be provided in the new picture house as "a half-way house to the feminine paradise."

Besides "chairs upholstered in old rose, carved French dressing tables, surmounted with rows of mirrors, and a rich carpeting of royal purple on the floor"—which are only a few of the glories to be—there are several comfortable couches, together with several public telephones and a medicine chest containing simple remedies. And, as if this were not enough, the generous management has provided the ladies' restroom with an ebony-hued personage, who is described as "a motherly mammy, who will be on hand at all times to minister to madame's wishes."

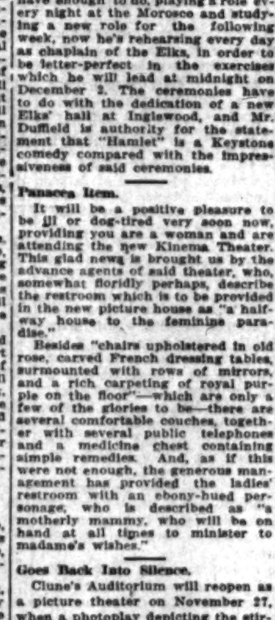
Goes Back Into Silence.

Clune's Auditorium will reopen as a picture theater on November 27, when a photoplay depicting the stirring action of the American Revolution, entitled "The Spirit of '76," will be shown.

It is said that a million dollars were expended in making the picture.

The Surratt Speaks Again.

Valeska Surratt has returned to vaudeville after spending nearly two years before the camera. She is offering herself in a dramatic sketch, "The Purple Poppy," by Paul M. Potter and C. V. De Vonde. The scene is laid in the private dining-room of a restaurant in Little Italy, and she has the assistance of a company of three. She will be seen at the Orpheum within the next few months.



Nina Morgana,

Who will sing Micaela in "Carmen" tonight at Clune's Auditorium.

Sebastian a Star Again.

Negotiations were concluded yesterday between Oliver Morosco and Fred E. Solomon, whereby the dance king takes over the Majestic Theater for one week commencing on Sunday, for a special showing of "Invisible Government," the sensational political picture in which ex-Mayor Sebastian starred.

Betty Would Fly.

Now the Germans had better look out!

Betty Bond, the little singer at the Orpheum this week, is going to have a vacation next week, and she will put in the whole seven days of it studying aviation with a view to offering her services to the United States government.

Will Have to Make it Two.

Gertrude Hoffman, who will shortly be seen at the Orpheum in her new ballet, has just been arrested in Chicago. "Whatever can Gertie have left off?" wondered "Skeeter" Gallagher yesterday. "It must have been the other bead!"

Ruth Roland,

Photoplay star, who will sing at the soldiers' and sailors' Yuletide benefit at Clune's Auditorium next Monday night.

EASTERN VISITORS INSPECT HARBOR.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND BIG SHIPBUILDER ON TOUR OF COAST.

Los Angeles harbor and the shipbuilding industry there received two notable separate inspections yesterday. One party of visitors embraced United States Senator William L. Calder of New York, William H. Todd, known as America's greatest shipbuilder; John M. Harmon, editor of the Brooklyn Times; P. H. Griffin, Mayor of Hoboken, N. J., and Marshall Dodge, Harold White and George Palmer, eastern capitalists.

Another visitor was Congressman McArthur, a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, who is making a tour of the Pacific Coast. He was the guest of the Harbor Commission on a trip which had particular reference to the site for the submarine base. That Congress will make a large appropriation at the next session for improvements here he declared probable.

"The development of Los Angeles Harbor has been wonderful," says Congressman McArthur. "It speaks volumes for the foresight and enterprise of the men who have fathered it. I feel sure that the whole naval development situation on the Pacific Coast will be approached by the government in a new way, now that Admiral Helm's commission has completed its work and made its report in regard to harbor conditions and defense plans.

"I am going back to Washington and boost for bigger things in the way of shipping possibilities and coast defense work in the West. I'm certain that government appropriations for much work in and around Los Angeles Harbor will be forthcoming shortly."

William H. Todd is president of the Todd Shipbuilding Corporation, which controls three great shipbuilding plants at New York, Brooklyn and Hoboken, owns the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company and the new $3,000,000 Todd plant at Tacoma, Wash.

The party is staying at the California Club and was conducted around the harbor yesterday by George Grimth. From Los Angeles they will return East by way of the Grand Canyon.

Common Sense.

ART AND MONEY.

ALLAN DWAN IS A DIRECTOR WITH BIG IDEAS.

By Paul Hubert Conlon.

"Art and money don't mix in motion-picture production," declares Allan Dwan, one of the greatest directors in the game today, who has been secured by Douglas Fairbanks to direct his future American stories. And the arguments Mr. Dwan advances to support his statement convinces me that he is absolutely right.

I have met many men in the screen world—producers, directors, actors and business managers—but none of them have impressed me with such a perfect combination of artistic ideals and common business sense as does Allan Dwan. He retains the enthusiasm of youth for the absolute perfection of the finished picture from an artistic viewpoint, and at the same time possesses a well-balanced conception of materialistic values.

Since motion pictures came into being there has existed an eternal fight between the moneyed powers, who naturally wanted big features produced at small costs, but demanding artistic results from the director, and the directors who insisted upon producing pictures with a sublime disregard for costs. In many cases, both sides were at fault.

Here is Allan Dwan. Why is he making $150,000 a year directing Douglas Fairbanks's plays? The answer is—Allan Dwan.

"I do not believe in waste in motion-picture making," said Mr. Dwan, "but I do believe in saving where the results show the best. I know of business managers fresh from commercial successes who try to apply the same economic methods to photoplay production. It can't be done. Where a business man makes his mistake is in trying to skimp and save in small details, meantime losing sight of the bigger costs, such as holding up an entire company for a few days at an enormous loss in time and money. Here is the real waste in motion-picture making."

Allan Dwan is the student—the thinker. He believes in the old adage that two heads are better than one. The great success he has made in the game has not made him oblivious to the advice and suggestions of others. I look for Allan Dwan to do far greater things than he ever has done in this amusement industry because he is one of the great mentalities of motion pictures.

"Doug"-Fairbanks evidently thinks so, since he declares that "Manhattan Madness," "The Good-Bad Man" and "The Habit of Happiness," which Mr. Dwan directed, are the three best American photoplays he has ever done.

Priests in the Army.

SANTA BARBARA (Cal.) Nov. 22. —[To Editor Times:] It was with regret that in your paper of Tuesday, November 20, I read an article by Prof. Giovanni Andreini, philosophizing on the recent catastrophe which overtook the Italian army, and attributing the disaster to the monks and priests in the army. I do not desire to ask the writer why he himself is not in Italy fighting instead of bantering and shouting from America. Neither would I like to inform him that some of the loudest accusers, during the present war, proved to be the culprits. I only wish to appeal to the fair-minded reader concerning the silly philosophy of the professor.

Mr. Andreini enumerates at first all the reasons why the Italian army had to fall back, and then suddenly he draws a conclusion so illogical as to stultify not a professor, but a mere child who has just started to use his reasoning power.

"The Italian army," says the professor, "had to face 2,500,000 men equipped with the most formidable artillery. The Germans outnumbered the Italians by thousands. The line of defense was very poor. The Italian frontier was 700 miles, while the Franco-English is only about 450 in length. The enemy could easily come down from the Carniche Alps or from the Trentino. To stem this offensive there were only a few regiments forming the left wing of the Second Army which covered six miles." And then proceeding further, Andreini says: "History will show that the genius of Gen. Cadorna was greater in the days of defeat than in the days of victory. Had he hesitated only for a few hours the entire army would have been annihilated."

After having put down all these reasons and having written the apotheosis of Cadorna, the learned professor draws his conclusion. "Gen. Cadorna allowed the monks and priests to get in the army lines thus weakening the spirit of the soldiers, therefore the Italians were defeated."

Wonderful logic!

Andreini claims to have lived in Italy twenty years and yet, during all that time, he has not learned that the government alone and not the general in command has the power of introducing priests and monks in the army.

Strange also that Cadorna should fail to discover that the teachings of the priests are utterly opposed to the spirit of patriotism.

It was necessary that the genius of Andreini should find it out and inform the world of it. Anyone guilty of spreading such doctrine among the soldiers at war would be treated as a traitor and be shot, but Cadorna must not have known of these things Andreini had to sound the alarm. Moreover is not the professor insulting the most sacred sentiments of 16,000,000 Catholics in this country when he makes those silly and bold assertions? It was only the other day that the United States government announced that the first American soldier to hurl a bomb at the enemy's trench was a red headed Irishman, that the first American killed was Enright of Pittsburgh, that the first medal of honor for extraordinary bravery has been awarded to Patrick M'Gunigal of Youngstown, O.

These three boys were Catholics and educated by priests and monks, yet they were not taught treachery, nor was their patriotic spirit weakened.

According to the United States statistics almost 40 per cent of our army and navy is made up of Catholic boys. Andreini should inform the government to be very careful lest the teachings of monks and priests might turn these courageous young men into traitors and cowards.

But what about the priests and monks themselves? I only quote a few accurate statistics about the Jesuits, whose name alone must frighten Andreini.

Actually engaged in the war there are now more than 2600 Jesuits. Of these few, very few employed in hospital work, most of them are in the fighting contingent and in the trenches, already 124 have been killed on the battlefield, 228 wounded or disabled, 162 decorated with various medals.

Let Andreini take notice of this! Are medals and decorations bestowed on traitors or cowards or on those who preach and teach subversive doctrines?

In France more than 25,000 priests and church students are among the rank and file; they are not chaplains; most of them are simple soldiers, poilus. Of these 2600 have been slain. Even the French government admits that the heroic courage displayed by the French soldiers may be traced to the fact that fighting side by side with them are men of the church, the same priests vilified by Prof. Andreini.

When the war broke out, thousands of priests, religious and brothers, who had previously been sent into exile by the government, flocked back to Europe without awaiting the summons and offered their lives to the imperilled nation. In this country of ours likewise, the Catholic priests and monks have stepped forward, have encouraged the youth to enlist, have offered their colleges, hospitals and institutions to the government and have placed their lives in the hands of the military authorities.

Prof. Andreini, in his article, states that Gen. Cadorna accused some Italian regiments of cowardice. If they were really guilty of cowardice it is not because they listened to the doctrine of monks and priests in their midst, but because men like Andreini despised vilified and calumniated them.

OCTAVIUS VILLA, S. J.

Sectless Ministers.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have just read the letter, "Wants Sectless Church," in this morning's paper. I think the suggestion this minister offers is a splendid one, both from the economic and the religious point of view. There is no doubt about the greater spiritual inspiration of large religious gatherings, as the Billy Sunday campaign has just proven. The economic advantage is also quite obvious. I should like to see this plan put into operation here in Los Angeles at least during the term of the war. Not only would this be a patriotic move, but it might result in a permanent union of many churches. Furthermore, many ministers, who are now detained at home, would be free to go where they are so badly needed, with our boys in the trenches, where they are, as it were, in the midst of hell, and if they ever needed spiritual fellowship more at one time than another, it is here. And these ministers by so doing would remove from themselves the stigma of accepting for themselves privileges that no moral right can sustain, that of exemption from active military service along the firing lines.

MUSICAL.

La Scala.

"BARBER OF SEVILLE."

NINA MORGANA IS EXCELLENT IN TITLE ROLE.

By Grace Kingsley.

Delivered from the reign of sorrow, destruction and sudden death which go to make up the plots of the heavier operas, the large audience which greeted the La Scala grand opera company last night was treated to the bright and brilliant strains of "The Barber of Seville."

That the audience was very musical, hugely appreciative and largely Latin were all proven by the enthusiasm which greeted favorite numbers, including "La Calunnia," "E il maestro lo faccio," and others, an enthusiasm which was not satisfied with the usual applause of clapping, but which vented itself in exclamations and actual cries of "Bravo!"

It was the exquisite physical beauty and vocal art of Nina Morgana as Rosina which were largely responsible for the big outburst of approval, the young woman's voice revealing itself in the supremacy of its flexible and flute-like loveliness in her solo numbers, while she outingenued the most sparkling of the picture ingenues in her daintiness and coquetry. Miss Morgana has a certain quality of personality, too, which in some subtle way puts her in intimate touch with her audience and adds to the warmth and convincingness of her characterization.

The jaunty insouciance and gay humor of "Figaro" were most happily conveyed by Mario Valle, whose attack in the first act at once raised the tempo of the opera to the comedy pitch. The mellow voice and convincing dramatic art of Pilade Sinagra were brought to bear with exactly the right touch of lightness on the role of Count Almaviva, and Aristide Merl as Bartolo and Italo Picchi as Basilio brought out the drollery of their respective roles with touches of excellent comedy.

Tonight the La Scala Grand Opera Company will present the second and last performance of "Carmen;" tomorrow afternoon "Faust," with Maggie Teyte, and tomorrow evening "Il Trovatore," with Ester Ferrabini.

According to the original schedule, this favorite Italian opera was to bring the season to a close, but so many requests have been received for one more performance of "Mme. Butterfly," with Maggie Teyte as Cho-Cho-San, that a farewell matinee is announced for Monday afternoon, November 26. The prices of admission will be popular—same as the Thursday matinees have been—while in addition to Miss Teyte, Mario Valle and Gandenzi will appear to complete the all-star cast.

HE THAT VAUNTETH HIMSELF.

In "Mr. Hearst's" various publications are now filled with vainglorious molasses and stickystuff, lauding "Mr. Hearst" to the yellow skies and dilating upon the virtues of his various newspapers, including the Los Angeles Examiner. Of all the patriots in America "Mr. Hearst" is the most patriotic; it must be so, for he tells us so himself; and of all the doers of big things he has done and is doing the biggest. He has done almost everything except to capture Venice, unseat Lloyd George, win the battle of the Marne and smash the Hindenburg line; and the only reason why he didn't do these things was because he was so busy carrying on the war against the volunteers and reducing the price of hen fruit by making Biddy lay without feeding.

The Times must confess that "Mr. Hearst" has said and printed a fairly large number of fairly adequate encomiums of himself; he has done his darndest, you might say, but he has failed to do himself full justice. The real and feeling tributes have been published in Germany by the German newspapers that have so freely and earnestly acknowledged German obligations to "Mr. Hearst" and pronounced him the one really "great American editor." The Times is tempted to say that it cannot understand why Mr. Hearst does not republish in his own columns these adulatory remarks ("made in Germany;") but as a matter of cold fact The Times KNOWS why he doesn't. And The Times is informed by governmental authority as to certain things which, added to other reasons, have possibly impelled "Mr. Hearst" to change the attitude of his newspapers to one not so cordially received and not so lavishly praised by the German newspapers. It is a good guess why "Mr. Hearst" has become of late so emphatically pro-American—although still taboo in Canada and England.

And speaking of tributes, here is one published in a Canadian newspaper, a warm one, which "Mr. Hearst" has not yet seen fit to reproduce. It is so good that The Times reprints it, fearing that the notorious modesty and incredible self-effacement of "Mr. Hearst" may prevent him from giving it to his readers. We find the following in the Saturday Night of Toronto:

"William Randolph Hearst seems to be using a pretty long tether, but some day or other he may come to the end of it. The entirely commendable measure of excluding his publications from Canada renders a good many of us oblivious to the activities of this licensed journalistic miscreant, but across the border he has lately been attracting a good deal of attention. The matter has been brought to attention by the revelation that he met Bolo Pasha, when that German agent had his headquarters in New York. Hearst has lately been filling columns of advertising space in publications other than his own in an endeavor to vindicate himself. He has the effrontery to say that when the British government holds him guilty—an earlier charge—of faking and distorting news in the interest of Germany, it 'not only lies, but knows it lies.'

"It will be remembered that some months ago the British government withdrew the privilege of sending cable news and using the trans-Atlantic mails from the correspondents of Hearst's International News Service—so that now any alleged exclusive war cables which appear in Hearst's publications are palpable fakes."

In a neighborly effort to do to "Mr. Hearst" the justice which "Mr. Hearst" fails to do to himself, The Times has heretofore quoted generously from the articles published by the German newspapers, commending the services of "Mr. Hearst," and now prints the above clipping. But all these things fail to do justice to "Mr. Hearst." The Times wonders when exact and uncompromising justice will be done to him. And how will it be done?

"EDSEL."

Edsel Ford, the son of the automobile manufacturer, has been denied exemption from military service, possibly on the assumption that if he gets to the front he may have that front name amputated. Sounds like a new-fashioned safety razor.

A SECRET OF GROWTH.

Mental and spiritual growth are not attained through actions alone, but through contemplation and reflection. The man who gets the most good out of life is not always he who has the most and the broadest experiences, but he who analyzes and mentally digests every common experience and applies to future conduct the principles which he thereby discovers.

THE DEATH LOSSES.

Statistics from the most dependable sources agree that the death toll in the present war is nothing compared to former wars of any note. It has been figured out that the number of men killed in action or died of wounds in the present war is at the ratio of only 1.1 per cent. At the battle of Shiloh the Ninth Illinois lost 62.3 per cent.; the First Minnesota at Gettysburg, 82 per cent., and the Sixty-ninth New York, 1000 out of 1200 in twenty minutes. The War of the Rebellion wasn't the greatest in the world, but it required the world to beat it.

ANOTHER NOBLE WORK.

American women are planning to assist in replanting the vast orchards of Europe laid waste by the German barbarians. That is another good move deserving of liberal contributions from every American who has the broader love of humanity in his heart—and what true American has not? The Allies may at least be thankful that Germany has not the power to destroy all the growing things of earth, that she cannot kill the seed of vine and tree any more than she can annihilate civilization. Germany can hinder, and has hindered progress, but she cannot prevent its advancement. She can retard liberty, but she cannot stop its certain growth. She can murder babes at their mothers' breasts, but she cannot kill all the mothers of earth nor render them sterile. She can mutilate and destroy cathedrals and palaces and other works of art, but she cannot kill the spirit and the genius of creative power in human nature. In the name of the Kaiser and the German Empire, the Germans can blight the beauty of earth and sea and sky and paint with crimson the white daisies and lilies of thought—but the flowers will bloom again and the blood that she sheds will become the sustenance of new blossoms that shall spread their fragrance on the wings of the wind in the coming springtime of humanity's hope. All that Germany destroys and blackens will be reconstructed on better, broader, stronger lines than ever before. Art and science and religion will take a new lease on life after the conflict is over and the combined nations will see to it that no one nation shall ever again be allowed to bring inharmony and hate and bloodshed to the human race. "The shades of tyranny and carnage are descending the steep slope to the gulf of devouring time, and a new day is dawning."

GOOD NEWS FROM THE BATTLE FRONTS.

Every true American heart is beating joyously today at the sudden changes wrought on the two main battle fronts by the spirit and enthusiasm of our brave allies in Europe. Even the California sun shines brighter for the lifting of the clouds in Belgium and France and Italy. For the events of the last few days have put an entirely new face on the war situation, the more welcome because coming so unexpectedly, the more exhilarating for the very swiftness and splendor of the retrieval.

Italy, outmatched in men and guns, in communications and strategic positions, was subjected to the full fury of Mackensen's as yet unbeaten forces, fresh from the crushing of hapless Rumania. Germany struck swiftly, confident in her brute strength—more confident for the insidious propaganda with which she had attempted to poison the minds and sap the vigor of her Roman antagonist.

Once more, however, has calculating materialism overreached itself. The old Roman spirit was proof against the machinations of secret intrigue; the soul of a nation leaped to new life to defend its soil and Italy has written another glorious chapter to the long record of her heroic deeds. No disrupted Russia, no disorganized Rumania, is holding back the Potsdam bully on the plains of Venetia, but a united band of foreign patriots, animated with an idealism the sordid Prussian can never understand and never overcome.

Like brave Horatius, Italia guards the bridge against this modern Porsenna and behind her stand the combined forces of Freedom and Democracy. And before the ruthless destroyer of little nations shall add the offspring of the Caesars to the list of her mutilated and plundered victims, the champions of democracy will have rushed the necessary aid to their hard-pressed ally and the higher the tide of invasion has risen the further will it be swept back again. The limit of advance for the hordes of the barbarians has already been set by the rally of the whole Latin nation to their desecrated frontier—to the final retreat there will be no limit short of the gates of Vienna.

Already, not on the Piave or the banks of the Adige, has the counter-blow been struck that will disrupt all the plans of the domineering Von Hindenburg.

For three years has England, steadfast under disappointments and reverses, uncomplaining before criticism generally severe and often unmerited, hung on to her part of the job with the grim tenacity of the bulldog. For three years has the British nation, shoulder to shoulder with the gallant sons of France, inspired by the chivalry and devotion that have immortalized the city of Verdun, borne the burden and heat of the war.

England was waiting, waiting, a little anxious for the present, but never doubting the final victory—knowing that every day was hastening the time when the great power of America would be fully mobilized and the death bell be tolled for autocratic militarism. And then, when the hopes of the alliance for freedom were once more at a low ebb, patient, plodding England struck a spectacular blow on the Hindenburg line that may change the whole aspect of the war.

Clever strategy, coupled with dare-devil dash, has not merely dented but has split wide open the vaunted Hindenburg defenses. The victory that pessimists prophesied could never be accomplished on the western front has been brought perceptibly nearer. New spirit has been infused into the British ranks by the knowledge that the white Colossus of the western world is upholding the banner of democracy. Our own War Department has been spurred to redoubled activity by the great good tidings of the last few days.

It is a fit answer to the Kaiser's ugly defiance of the majesty of the American people. On the same spot where he unloosed his fury—so has our President decreed—shall he be brought to his final reckoning. At Noyelles and Cambrai the Tommies and the tanks have started the liberation and vindication of brave Belgium. When the Sammies and the Stars and Stripes at last go over the top there will be no halting place for the pillagers of defenseless cities and the ravagers of widowed and desolate women anywhere this side of the turbulent Rhine.

While we are rejoicing over the new hopes awakened by the gallant defense of Italy and the mighty blow struck in Northern France, another drama is being enacted in an older and more historic land, the account of which must thrill the heart of every Christian man and woman. The British forces are within five miles of Jerusalem. Think how much this simple statement implies for all those who hold Christmas and Easter as the two greatest festivals in the annals of the race. The Jews, the chosen people, will come into their own again after being dispossessed for nearly three thousand years. No longer will the infidel Turk defile the soil hallowed by the footsteps of the Redeemer. And with the ousting of the Moslem and the advent of the Jew and the Christian will come to the historic land of Palestine development and progress and civilization and blessings denied it under the scimetar of the Sultan.

From the combined battle fronts the wires are sending us glad tidings of great joy after the long and weary waiting for the first rift in the war clouds. The beginning of the end is in sight.

HEALTH CONSERVATION.

The State of California is the first in the country to organize a special State department bureau devoted exclusively to combatting the scourge of the age, venereal disease. And the Los Angeles City Council has been prompt to lend its active co-operation, with the apportionment of $24,000 by which the Inebriate Farm Hospital is to be transformed into an institution for the treatment of these cases. The necessary ordinance is being drafted and will be passed by the Council as a war measure.

Dr. H. G. Irvine, chief of the Bureau of Venereal Diseases of the State Board of Health, aided by a competent committee, will have charge of this far-reaching project, which has for its object the compulsory treatment of all affected persons that come within its cognizance and instituting a wide educational campaign. Both men and women are to be isolated and treated.

But while cure, and palliation where cure is impossible, will play its part in the work, the campaign is to be constructive and preventive. Segregation in institutions of the diseased, where they can receive constant and vigilant care under a strict regime, will be followed by a prolonged attention to the patient. His home conditions will be investigated, and for those who have no homes accommodation will be found through the social service department of the bureau in charge of Miss Marion Lynne. The women will be given every opportunity to return to a normal life. Jail, in the case of prostitutes, will be suggested only for those who are unaffected and proven to be actually criminals. Dr. Irvine, in his report, states that nothing will be tolerated that is not in accordance with the highest type of scientific work.

It is a lamentable fact that the majority of public hospitals throughout the country do not admit patients with venereal diseases. These institutions are supported by the communities, yet the very cases that are most dangerous to those communities are not cared for, while cases such as appendicitis and pneumonia, which affect only the individual, are accepted.

For this reason an important part of Dr. Irvine's programme is to induce the hospitals to admit these patients and to make it easy for all affected persons to secure treatments through night and day clinics. The bureau will establish a set of standards for treatment and free salvarsan will only be issued to those clinics living up to the standards.

So much for the cure; but the educational side of the work is regarded as of even more importance. Public officials and the medical profession will be asked to co-operate. Qualified men are to give public lectures on the subject. The programme follows the lines advocated by the Surgeon-General and supported by the War and Navy Departments as extremely essential in maintaining the highest efficiency in the army and navy.

Indeed it is ironical that it should take the calamity of war to awaken the nation to its perils from the devastating disease. It was not until the draft examinations showed such an appalling percentage of venereal sufferers that the full horror of the condition was forced upon the cognisance of the authorities. Then it became all too evident that the spread of the disease, while sufferers continued at large, using public utensils, riding in public vehicles, sleeping in hotels, visiting the amusements, was reaching almost disastrous limits.

Part of the educational campaign will be a crusade against prostitution, which plays the most important role in the spread of these diseases. The bureau has announced that under no circumstances will it tolerate the issue of certificates of health to public women. The medical care is to be a mere first step in the national attempt at rehabilitation, but every agency will be used to win known public women to more worthy professions. For which reason, after their restoration to health, social agencies will make it their business to keep in touch with the patients.

The whole is a tremendous undertaking, but the necessity for it has been made poignantly obvious since April last, when our young men were compulsorily examined under the draft law.

Under the new State regime many a man will lose his liberty as a public menace and be confined for institutional treatment who escaped under the draft for physical disability. It will be some time before the bureau can take care of all the cases already within its cognizance, but the peril is so serious that, no matter what the effort, it will be made.

AH, BUT THEN THERE'S GARTERS!

What is jewelry? The answer seems to be simple. But the government, with an eye for the intricacies of classification, has made it complicated. Thus in preparing a list of the articles to pay a war tax under this head, it includes, among various other things worn on the person, suspenders and garters. The common idea of jewelry is that it is an adornment, something worn to be seen. If suspenders—otherwise known as braces or galluses—are to be considered ornamental, there can be no object in concealing them. But it is not always practicable to appear without coat and waistcoat. Shall this hitherto purely useful article be no longer hid? And garters, too—how shall these be visible? The problem for the men is more difficult. Suspenders worn about the neck or festooned around the waist might add a touch of beauty to the too somber male attire, especially if they were with embroidery richly dight. Perhaps the more exclusive patterns (in the language of haberdashers) might have jeweled buckles; it is whispered that garters have been similarly distinguished. But to make suspenders as elegant as useful is another matter.—[Philadelphia Ledger.

ED HOWE IS RIGHT.

The people who are not politicians must organize to protect themselves from those who are. If my suggestion of a ropeless vigilance committee is not the remedy, then let the people get busy and find something more promising.

These propositions are self-evident:

(1.) The politicians are becoming more powerful every day, and steadily increasing taxation for their own benefit.

(2.) The people are making no effective protest.

(3.) And finally the country will be swamped, with the old flag flying, and schoolhouses, churches and convention halls wide open to teach justice, liberty and morality.

Politics has actually become a menace to the country, yet I do not believe one man out of fifty realizes it.—[Ed Howe's Magazine.

THAT BABY ON THE RUSTY SPIKE.

BY E. E. HARRIMAN.

There have been many horrors enacted during this war, horrors that make a man wonder if all Germany has gone stark, raving mad; but no one thing has taken me by the throat as has that tale by a member of the Black Watch. When I read this man's story of how the men of his own company found a tiny babe hanging by its mouth from a rusty nail or spike, driven in the wall of a barn, and of how they saw the tiny scratches made by the little soft finger nails in its agony, I rose up and cursed. Yes, I did, in spite of my Methodist training and all. I cursed Prussia and prayed for her earthly damnation at least. I prayed that God, that God whom the fiendish Huns insult by their foul claim of alliance, might put on them the curse that was promised in the days of the prophets for those who place greed before God and self-aggrandisement before holiness. I prayed that they might have meted to them the measure which they have meted unto the helpless. And the night grew old while I lay and shuddered as my mind drew pictures that moved and lived and suffered.

Oh, you American who still holds to the cowardly plea that this is England's war, not ours, was it England's war at Tampico when English ships and English sailors saved our men and women and children from a mad Mexican mob? Is there any division in humanity when it faces inhumanity? Is it true that one must regard national boundaries when it comes to such a question as stopping the destruction of a world? Oh, you coward! You maker of phrases and perverter of truth! You are a byword and a stench in the nostrils!

And you Germans who have left the old world for the new because in the new you saw greater opportunity. Are you still holding to your faith in the Kaiser and his staff?

Many, many times have I been told by Germans in America, "We, as a race, care more for children than do the other nations." Ah! Then it is because your race loves children so much that the soldiers of the Kaiser cut off so many hands? It was love of helpless and innocent childhood that placed the babe on that rusty nail?

You cannot approve! You cannot say "Hoch der Kaiser" again after that tale has been told! All the good that is in you must rise up against such useless cruelty. All that is worth while in you must cry to God, not the God of Prussianism, but the God who so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son to redeem it, to curse and overwhelm those who commit such acts.

Can you close your eyes and let your mind vision to you that babe, writhing, clawing, uttering strangled sounds; its little limbs drawn up and twisting in agony, growing weaker with each spasm of pain till at last comes the relaxing, the limp, dead drop in every line that tells of another witness gone home to God, where it will testify in all the ages against the monster who gave it no pity? If you can vision that and still say "Hoch der Kaiser," then God pity you and the devil receive you, for you are not of earth or of heaven, but of hell!

This babe on the spike in the wall is the crowning atrocity, the acme of devilishness. The breasts of women, the hands of little boys, the unspeakable mutilations of men, they are all of a piece with the worst done by the Apache of the late sixties and the seventies, and with the horrible work of the Sioux in '63-3, but that babe—oh, the babe! God give me the strength of my youth in that day when any man, call himself what he may, says again in my presence that this is not our war. It is my war—MINE—whether it belongs to La Follette or no.

FEARS OF REACTION.

Fears of reaction on account of the ruthless U-boat warfare are starting to disturb the German mind. Vice-Chancellor Von Helfferich, in a memorandum now published, thus expresses himself:

"I cannot conceal from myself that the danger remains that the reaction from such warfare will be more fatal to us than the strongest conceivable injury to England."

With practically every nation worthy of the name turned against her, the results of her murderous piracy are just beginning to dawn on Germany. Chagrin over the failure to attain its purpose is, no doubt, having more weight on these fears than any moral reasons could have. A murderer is always sorry when caught. The fear of the Vice-Chancellor is not a guide to repentance, but rather an expression of mortification. He is ashamed that there were not more human souls sent to their maker, so that there would be fewer left to protest the pirate's act. Trust not the Hun.

WHAT MARGUERITE CLARK HEARD PEOPLE SAY ABOUT HER.

In an article which Marguerite Clark has written for the December American Magazine, she says:

"Two weeks ago I was in a moving-picture theater with my sister, watching one of my own pictures. Behind me sat a woman who was telling the man next to her all about me. She was one of those persons who are wise to everything. She knew so much about me that you would have been surprised that one head could hold it all. According to her, I was 50 years old, had been three times married and had worked in pictures ever since they were invented. We fully expected to hear her talk about my grandchildren, but she left the theater before she got to them. The fact that I did not look 50 she attributed to the fact that I spent most of my time being massaged, enameled and what not. If I did all the things the good lady accused me of I would never in the world have any time for pictures."

Germany is exporting silver. Should think they would need it at home for the purpose of lining the lowering clouds.

HITS AND MISSES BY OTHER PAPERS.

The truth must be faced squarely: Russia will not be, for an indefinite period, a war factor. The United States is fortunate in having entered the conflict while Russia was still to some extent an element of the Entente. The disaster of virtually complete collapse on the eastern front has providentially been stayed long enough to enable this country to get well started in its war preparations, which must now be hastened with the utmost speed and with the greatest efficiency.—[Washington Star.

The food administration will be wasting its time and retarding its work if it expends its energy running down alleged enemy opposition to the food conservation movement and at the same time does nothing to curb the rapacity of dealers who are industriously marking up prices on government-sanctioned substitutes for meat and wheat. The most powerful foe of food saving in the United States today is the constantly-rising scale of prices on fish, corn and kindred commodities.—[Spokane Spokesman-Review.

America owes to Italy, to the Allies and especially to itself a duty that no longer can be delayed. That is to take the fair and manly course and declare war against Germany's allies as war was declared against Germany.—[New York Herald.

The boys of '61 did not have "Liberty" theaters for their amusement as will the boy of '17, but they improvised a lot of fun, nevertheless. Early in the Civil War fighting was a frolic, but soon settled down to hard work. So it will be overseas, and it is well the troops have their laughs at the beginning.—[Portland Oregonian.

The Filipino soldier may lack in stature, but no one can surpass him in endurance. His soldierly qualifications make the offer of a Philippine contingent a promise of real help to Uncle Sam at this time of national necessity. During the last revolution in the Philippines, with hardly any ammunition, with no commissary organization, at times with hardly a meal a day, almost naked and barefooted, and virtually left to themselves, the soldiers stood the war with wonderful endurance. They need adequate equipment and training to become an efficient factor in Uncle Sam's army, but the stuff is there already.—[Philippine Review.

The New York Herald would have "best girls" lay down the law: "No candy and no ice cream accepted." Who can estimate the saving power the adoption of this suggestion would enlist? It would give the Allies all the sugar they needed and leave us plenty. Will the girls take notice and govern themselves accordingly?—[Springfield Republican.

Italy seems to think the United States could aid her more effectively by declaring war on Austria-Hungary. As a matter of fact, America is at war not only with Germany, but all of her allies, as they will find when they come within gunshot. This is not a time for quibbling, but for action.—[New York World.

The Turks are fleeing and the British are within a short distance of Jerusalem. The capture of the Holy City by the English would certainly put fresh heart into the whole Allied campaign, for it would be one aim realized by the war of almost the whole Christian world, except the Teutons, whose god, Thor, has nothing in common with the hopes and prayers of Christian hearts.—[Baltimore American.

The resolution of the Allied nations to fight the war to victory, and the inability of the Germans by their utmost endeavor to stand against the Allied strength in the west, when it is exercised, serve every day to minimize, to discount the Russian blow. Practically we have eliminated Russia from our hopes; but the rally of the people of the real Russia against the red rule in Petrograd will, if by chance it comes, be a new pledge of ultimate victory.—[Boston Transcript.

This war will be won by France, Great Britain and the United States. They have the men to win it; they have the money and they have the invincible resolution without which neither men nor money can avail.—[New York World.

Italy doubtless appeals particularly to the Teutonic empires as a field of battle because it possesses so many art treasures capable of destruction.—[Chicago Herald.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

WHAT'S THE TRUTH?

War stories, always on the wing,
I fear me oft are fictions, and travelers come up and spring their endless contradictions. I can't imagine where we're at, as I compose this sonnet; one man is talking through his hat, another through his bonnet. One man, who's just returned from France, who's seen the armies fighting, says, "Kaiser Wilhelm's name is Pance—he's beaten at this writing." I go outdoors to celebrate, my soul is glad and sunny; then comes along another skate, who says, "Don't get too funny. The Kaiser's strength is unimpaired, in fact, he's growing stronger; don't fool yourself and think he's scared—he'll fight for nine years longer." One day I read the submarines are knocked out by the British; I prance like springald in his teens, I feel so gay and skittish. And then I read another tale, which starts the teardrops flowing; the efforts of the British fail—the U-boat graft is growing. What is the truth? Where are we at? Produce the facts, dog-gone it! One man is talking through his hat, another through his bonnet.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES AROUSE SUSPICION.

M'KITTRICK, Nov. 22.—Two fires, each occurring on a local oil lease and but twenty-four hours apart, have aroused suspicion here. Investigation having failed to discover the cause of the blazes, which resulted in losses aggreating several thousand dollars.

The first fire caused the destruction of the frame boarding-house on the property of the H. S. Williams Oil Company's lease. The boarding-house was operated by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Longworth. They suffered a loss of $1000, on which there was no insurance. The building, owned by the H. S. Williams Oil Company, was valued at about the same amount.

The second blaze was on the lease of the Reward Oil Company, situated in the Beiridge field, and the property destroyed was the rig over well No. 1, together with 800 barrels of oil. The well had been closed down several hours prior to the discovery of the fire and the matter is, like the preceding blaze, enveloped in mystery. The Reward Oil Company is drilling well No. 2 on the same lease, which the company has been operating for several years.

MOVE TO WIPE OUT SOCIAL DISEASES.

COUNCIL TO PROVIDE MONEY FOR TREATING VICTIMS IN JAIL FIRST.

In connection with the campaign to wipe out the social diseases in Los Angeles the City Council has several measures under consideration. Tuesday it decided to provide sufficient money to examine and treat afflicted men and women who come within the jurisdiction of the Police Courts and yesterday plans were considered by the Public Welfare and Health and Sanitation committees to place a further check upon disease.

The Public Welfare Committee recommended that an ordinance be enacted which will compel persons in the barber business to conduct their shops under most sanitary conditions. In addition the barbers would be compelled to undergo a physical examination and must pay a license fee if allowed to ply their trade.

Dr. Lulu Peters and Health Commissioner Powers addressed the Health and Sanitation Committee in communication with the proposed regulation of the display and handling of foodstuffs. They made it clear that many diseases are communicated through foodstuffs. They recommended that all eatables be protected in glass cases, that purchasers and clerks be not permitted to handle the eatables.

Councilman Reeves mentioned the fact that in many restaurants persons are permitted to handle cooked foods that are on display and the foods are subjected to disease germs from the time they leave the kitchen until purchased. To get a thorough understanding of this situation, the members of the committee agreed to make a personal inspection of cafes, restaurants, etc.

It was proposed that cooks and dishwashers be compelled to undergo physical examinations and the committee asserted it will make such a recommendation to the Council.

to the letter carriers of Los Angeles

God bless you and keep YOU FOR the cheer that you bring! and the glad "good DAY" THAT you give to all as you get around in the EARLY MORNING, laden down with your heavy pack! AND ALL the little kids know you and greet you! AND THE lovers await you! for they know that you BRING PRECIOUS news from love-sick hearts! AND THEY'VE got an answer all sealed and ready for YOU TO put in your bag the next morning. AND EVEN the dogs all love you! and they wag their TAILS WHEN they spot you a-coming, and they follow YOU AROUND the block, because they know the let-TERMAN FOR a friend! for, they've noticed that no ONE BEARS you a grudge, rather, that everybody has A SMILE and a good word to match your smile and KIND GREETING, and a dog knows a whole lot more THAN YOU imagine. he reads between the lines. and he CAN READ faces better than a human. AND YOU bring good news and bad news, and stale news. NEWS THAT thrills and news that shocks. it's all the SAME TO you. there's news of a birth and news of a DEATH. and you carry back cheer AND CONSOLATION to the lads in the trenches, and they BLESS THE letterman! and the only fellows that HEAP MALEDICTION on your heads are those who are EXPECTING THEIR monthly bills for the stuff they CHARGED UP! they hate the sight of you! THEY'VE GOT no smile or greeting for you! TO THEM you're the epitome of evil and the torture chamBER. THEY'D rather not be at home when you come! AND YET you're innocent of all crime! NOW, IF these same people would only get wise and pay CASH AND keep within their means, they'd have a smile OF WELCOME for you as do all the others! AND THEY wouldn't be giving you the evil eye! FOR THE evil would be all out of their eyes and their LIVES WOULD be tempered with a delicious sweetness, DAY IN and day out! and where, in the name of COMMON SENSE, IS the use of paying more, just for the SATISFACTION OF being able to say "charge it please"? THEY OUGHT to know that "charge it up," means a big CORPS OF office men to do that little matter of CHARGING IT UP! and who, do they suppose, pays for THESE FEW little glib words? the customer, of course! THE OVERBURDENED taxed-to-the-limit bread-earner! NOW, WE'RE a big concern. our luxurious establishment HOUSING THOUSANDS of the finest ready-to-wear suits AND OVERCOATS in the world is being run on a cash SYSTEM. WE actually save a customer several dollars ON A suit or overcoat! we do it today, tomorrow AND EVERY day in the year! It's an all-year-round POLICY! JUST to encourage cash buying! WITNESS THESE cash prices! Instead of twenty dollars YOU PAY only seventeen! Instead of twenty-five YOU PAY only twenty-three! Instead of thirty you pay TWENTY-SEVEN! Instead of thirty-five YOU PAY only thirty-two! Instead of forty you pay THIRTY-SEVEN dollars! and you're getting the best CLOTHES THAT can be made and so, dear letterman! WE GIVE joy and gladness in our own little way AND WE would ask you to come in and see us when YOU ARE at leisure that you may see the superb VALUES WE are showing and that you may profit by THE PROFIT-sharing that we are doing! and thus may WE PROFIT a little for all the sweet and lovely things THAT WE have said to you. N. B. we share our profits TOO, WITH you on hats, caps, shirts, underwear, gloves, etc. AND WE'LL be glad to see you and to show you.

FOREIGN EVENTS SHAPE PRICES IN WALL STREET.

New Teutonic Offensive in Italy is Cause of Late Reversal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Trading in stocks today was again primarily influenced by the course of foreign events. From an irregular opening the market hardened generally but mainly in specialties, those advancing two to three points.

In the last half of the session, when dealings diminished visibly, prices reacted two to three points, shippings and steels pointing the way. The reversal was concurrent with advices of a new Teutonic offensive in Italy and another sharp decline in exchange on Rome.

Leaders fluctuated within a radius of two points, United States Steel's minimum of 96 1-8 and maximum of 98 being typical of the movement in industrials, as well as rails. Reading was the only transportation issue to display strength, although forfeiting the greater part of its two-point gain.

Early activity centered around the speculative war shares which owe their occasional prominence to pools or professional interests. Temporary strength in motors, Industrial Alcohol and Distillers' Securities occasioned hurried short covering.

Sales of stocks amounted to 590,000 shares.

Declaration of the "extra" 2½ per cent. dividend on Lackawanna Steel and omission of the recent "extra" quarterly disbursement on Brooklyn Union Gas became known after the close of the market.

September returns of a number of railroads disclosed another large gap between operating and net revenue, the latter being less by almost $4,000,000 than in the corresponding month last year.

The strength of francs was in striking contrast to the new minimum of 5.95 for lires. Local money rates manifested increasing ease, but time rates held firm.

Bonds were irregular, with Liberty 4s at 97.96 to 98.20, and the 2½s at 93.90 to 99.00. Total sales, par value, were $4,525,000. United States bonds, old issue, were unchanged on call.

UNION STATION HEARING ENDS.

Railroad Commission will Meet Here Again.

Final Arguments will be Made Next Month.

Engineering Department to Begin Surveys.

Hearings before the State Railroad Commission with relation to the proposed union terminal at the Plaza and the elimination of grade crossings in this city were ended for the present yesterday and will be resumed for the taking of final testimony next month. In the meantime the commission's engineering department will open its office in Los Angeles and begin its surveys and investigations immediately.

The hearing yesterday opened with a continuation of the explanation by H. Hawgood, the engineer of the Central Development Association, of the proposed union depot at the Plaza. The total cost of the project, Mr. Hawgood stated, would be $2,955,499. The scheme proposed by the Southern Pacific, the Salt Lake and the Pacific Electric would cost the three roads $5,649,099, his estimates showed, so that the Plaza scheme, he declared, would be approximately $3,000,000 cheaper.

Mr. Hawgood also said that the $7,000,000 worth of railroad lands now occupied would be released for other purposes if the union terminal were built at the Plaza. In his opinion, he declared, the best solution of the Pacific Electric traffic problems in this city would be the construction of subways in Main street.

THE GRADE CROSSINGS.

City Attorney Stephens introduced as his witness W. E. Workman, Jr., of Boyle Heights, who expressed the opinion that the chief problem to be considered is the elimination of grade crossings. He condemned the joint plan of the railroads and pointed out that a portion of their main line tracks on Seventh street would be flooded during high water from the Los Angeles River.

For the first time during the hearings, the Santa Fe came out with a statement yesterday as to its attitude. Speaking for the railroad, its attorney, W. C. Camp referred to the union terminal scheme as "poppycock." He agreed with Mr. Workman that grade crossing elimination should be considered first.

"Not a dollar should be expended on the union terminal station during the war," he declared.

There should, however, he said, be plans made for the future, and he pointed out that, in his opinion, the present site of the Santa Fe freight and passenger station is a better place for a union depot than any yet proposed to the commission.

OPPOSE PLAZA PROJECT.

Representing the Business Men's Association, R. A. Rowan presented a petition asking the commission to deny the Plaza claims and to leave the railroad passenger facilities where they are. Mr. Rowan asserted that in the last seven years he had bought and sold about $100,000,000 worth of property in Los Angeles, and that he knew that the Plaza neighborhood had been "dead and buried."

E. C. Nutt, general manager of the Salt Lake road, explained the reasons for the Salt Lake's arrangement with the Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric, and said that the Salt Lake, being a little road, could not afford to fall out with its two big brothers.

The general superintendent of the United States mails in Los Angeles, A. Jensen, testified that the building of a union passenger depot would greatly facilitate the handling of mails, and gave the various distances from the several proposed locations to the general post-office.

RAPID TRANSIT PLANS.

Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric, was on the stand, and explained the plans of his company and contemplated improvement in rapid transit between Pasadena, San Bernardino, Pomona, Whittier and Los Angeles. Mr. Shoup stated that by using the Salt Lake-Southern Pacific proposed right of way from the Arcade Station to the river and the river bank track space of the Salt Lake from Sixth, and the river to Aliso street, he could run Pacific Electric trains in and out of the city at thirty miles an hour, cutting the running time to Covina Junction nine minutes and reducing the time to Pasadena to twenty-five minutes from Sixth and Main to Colorado street.

This running time would be made possible through the use of express tracks through the Macy-street yards, and by eliminating all stops out of the city between Sixth and Main to Covina Junction, with the exception of a stop at the Southern Pacific Station to take care of overland passengers.

SHORTAGE OF FUNDS.

Insufficient Pension Money Not Due to Theft, But to Too Small Appropriations.

The charge was made before the Council yesterday that the pension funds of the fire and police departments are short $292,952 and an investigation of the matter was urged. Seward C. Simons, secretary of the Municipal League, made the assertion. He added, however, that the shortage does not mean that there has been any money improperly expended or unaccounted for, but he said not sufficient money has been appropriated to take care of future requirements.

In a letter to the Council Mr. Simons said:

"The Council is, of course, aware of the large number of additions to the departments since 1911. On June 30, 1917 the number on the police roll was 675; on the fire roll 484. The total appropriation to the funds has merely sufficed to pay actual demands arising in the fiscal year, no reserve or surplus being set aside against accumulating risk. The figures, which we have compiled, indicate a total shortage of $174,654 in the police pension fund and $132,298 in the fire pension fund."

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

PLAN TO SEND TREES TO CAMP.

Shade for Kearny Soldiers is Aim of Woman in Novel Request.

The unique proposition that Mrs. Leafie Sloan Orcutt of the Los Angeles City Park Commission, made to the Board of Supervisors yesterday, received the undivided interest of the board. In effect, it was that the Supervisors cut and ship to Camp Kearny a carload of eucalyptus trees, where they will be planted in the cantonment for the benefit of the soldier boys.

The soldiers at Camp Kearny suffer from the unprotected rays of the sun. The eucalyptus trees grow rapidly and in one season they attain a height of eight feet. The shade from these trees, it was pointed out, would prove very grateful for the Sammies, and the Supervisors were urged to give the proposition earnest consideration. The matter was referred to the County Counsel and the County Forester.

Mrs. Arthur Wright of No. 1139 West Twenty-seventh street entertained 100 guests at a Spanish dinner party last night in the tearoom of the Red Cross chapter house. She gave it for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The affair was picturesque. A Spanish dinner prepared by a Spanish cook was served by pretty senoritas dressed in Spanish costumes. A Spanish orchestra played, and there was a musical programme by Spanish singers, who wore native costumes. Spanish dancers in costume entertained the large company with a number of beautiful dances, which originated in Spain.

On the menu was a Spanish salad, tamales, Spanish beans and everything that a well-ordered Spanish dinner should include.

Bridge Party.

Another brilliant event scheduled for the benefit of the Red Cross is the afternoon bridge party, to be followed in the evening by a big ball, both at the Regent apartments, on the 27th inst. Mrs. Jessie McDonald Patterson, a concert singer, will give a programme of songs, and Miss Naomi Black will give several exhibition dances. Both she and Mrs. Patterson will donate their services free.

For Surgical Dressing.

The management of the Red Cross shop and tearooms yesterday announced that the Los Angeles Woman's Auxiliary of the Red Cross has organized a new surgical dressing department, which will meet every Tuesday at a garage donated by W. P. Powers of No. 511 South Hoover street. It has been decorated and plastered until it is a very artistic little meeting place. Mrs. Joseph K. Clark has donated $100 to buy the bandages to begin work on. Mrs. David E. Bradley is secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Julian Van Dusen is purchasing agent, and Mrs. John T. Cooper is chairman.

On Kaiserism.

"The reason there is one big Kaiser in Germany is that there are a lot of little kaisers there also, and Kaiserism has run through and through the whole German system of thought," declared Dr. Emory S. Bogardus, head of the University of Southern California department of sociology, in an address yesterday before the civilian relief section of the Red Cross at Normal Hill Center.

"Germany can never get rid of its big Kaiser until its educational system is free from the little ones," continued Dr. Bogardus. "A new social conscience must be born.

"Our own system of thought must be revised from bottom to top. Heretofore we have always told ourselves, 'Knowledge is power.' Now we must begin to tell ourselves, 'Socially-directed knowledge is power.'

"We have been in the habit of looking at all problems, national and international, in a little, local way. Americans have been sadly myopic. Our thought has been provincial.

"If the war to end war is to succeed, Americans have got to build up a system of international judgments, of decisions arrived at from an international viewpoint."

Organize Auxiliary.

Volunteering to give every moment of available spare time to knitting, sewing and the making of surgical dressings for the war cause, the women of the Southern California Edison Company's system yesterday organized an auxiliary of the American Red Cross. At a meeting held in President Miller's office, Mrs. Walter Sobier of Red Cross headquarters, who is giving her entire time to organizing auxiliaries, made an appealing talk to a large attendance of the Edison women. Mrs. Emmett D. Cheesman was elected chairman of the Edison's Red Cross auxiliary; Mrs. Marion J. Lauten, treasurer, and Mrs. Maude S. Hart, secretary.

TO LAST REST.

Memorial services for Dr. Elizabeth Follansbee, who died here August 22, will be held at Rosedale Cemetery at 3 p.m. Sunday, in connection with the interment of the ashes of the dead woman in the burial plot owned by Mrs. W. W. Stilson.

Injury.

AUTO FATALITY INVESTIGATED.

Driver's Estimate of Speed is Apparently Incorrect.

Officers Make a Survey at Scene of Accident.

Man is Held on Suspicion of Manslaughter.

The statement of C. B. Abbott, manufacturer's agent, who is held pending a Coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Helen Smith Holman, 29 years old, who was killed by Abbott's automobile yesterday morning at the Sunset-boulevard viaduct over Lake Shore avenue, that he was driving slowly is apparently contradicted by the measurements of the tragedy which were made by the police. A companion of Mrs. Holman, Helen Crail, 18 years old, of No. 201 West Orange avenue, Monrovia, was injured, probably disfigured in the accident.

The following is an extract from the report made to Detective Captain Home by Detective Sergeant Jones and Officer C. F. Hutchins, who measured the distances between the various points included in the accident:

"A considerable amount of blood on the pavement indicated where the machine struck the women and where the body was taken from under the machine. We used a measure and from a point about eighty-five feet west of where the car actually struck the women, the impression on the pavement clearly showed where the brakes had been applied by Mr. Abbott and that the rear wheel had skidded a distance of fifteen feet. From where the sliding of the car ceased, to a point where the women were struck is a distance of about sixty-three feet. Officer Hutchins, Mr. Abbott and his brother took these measurements and all agree that they are approximately correct.

"We made two stops to try the brakes of the car, while coming in to the station. On the first stop we were going twelve miles an hour and on the other stop were riding at twenty miles an hour. The car's brakes worked perfectly and the car was brought to a stop within a distance of thirty feet."

As shown by the measurements made by the four men, the distance between the points where the women were knocked down and where the car was stopped is eighty-five feet, according to the detective's report.

In the statement made to the police by Mr. Abbott and corroborated by his brother, A. C. Abbott, he was driving at twelve miles an hour.

Mrs. Holman and Miss Crail were on the west curb of Sunset boulevard, and were hidden from Mr. Abbott by a bakery wagon, which stood at the curb. As a west-bound Hollywood car approached, the two women started across the street, to board it, and in so doing stepped directly into the path of the Abbott machine. Both women were knocked down. Mrs. Holman was run over and Miss Crail was dragged the entire distance from where she was struck to where the car was finally stopped. The rear end of the machine had to be jacked up that she might be taken from under the wheels.

Mrs. Holman and her friend were en route to the Normal School. The dead woman was married six weeks ago to William F. Holman, a young attorney associated with T. E. Gibbon, and was the daughter of Mrs. W. F. Smith of Monrovia and a sister of C. A. Smith, treasurer of the N. B. Blackstone Company. Her body was taken to the J. D. Faris mortuary.

Miss Crail, who lives in Monrovia, had passed the night at her friend's home. She received internal injuries, which, according to Police Surgeon Lucey, may cause her to be an invalid for the remainder of her life. After being given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital, she was removed to the Clara Barton Hospital.

Mr. Abbott is held at Central Police Station on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter, pending an investigation by Coroner Hartwell.

Fatal.

ONE WOMAN KILLED AND ANOTHER HURT BY AUTO.

WHEN crossing Washington street near La Salle avenue last night, Mrs. Eliza A. Brewer and Miss Minnie Kolkebeck, both residing at No. 1738 Roosevelt street, were struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by E. H. Patterson of No. 978 South Hoover street. Mrs. Brewer received injuries from which she later died and Miss Kolkebeck suffered a possible fracture of the skull and bad bruises.

After he is alleged to have struck the women, Patterson picked the victims up and rushed them to the California Hospital, where he gave his name and address and left. The hospital authorities immediately notified the Receiving Hospital and Miss Kolkebeck was taken to that institution for treatment.

Patterson was arrested and taken to the Receiving Hospital by Officers Littell and Luth, where he was examined for intoxication by the police surgeons, but was found to be sober. He was then taken to the Police Station and booked on a charge of suspicion of manslaughter.

In giving his version of the accident, Patterson said:

"I was driving east on Washington street at a speed of approximately fifteen miles an hour and noticed the two women stop in the middle of the street. I started to pass in front of them, and then they stepped forward. I then swerved to pass in back of the pair, and when about even with them, one became frightened and pulled the other directly in front of the automobile, and it was impossible for me to avoid the accident."

According to friends of the women, Mrs. Brewer was a widow and Miss Kolkebeck was a spinster, and the pair had lived together for some time.

ASK PATENT TO RICH OIL LAND.

Property Valued at Million Dollars is Involved.

Government Charges Fraud in Maricopa-Midway Field.

Defendant Sets up Claim of Undisputed Possession.

Involving patent to about 3000 acres of supposed oil land in the Maricopa and Midway fields, valued at over $1,000,000, the first of a series of hearings was begun yesterday in the office of the Register and Receiver of the local Land Office. The hearings arise out of the application of the Western Minerals Company, a California corporation, for a patent to the land. There are nine different parcels, covering from 160 to 240 acres. The government is resisting the application.

The defendants are W. S. Tevis, C. A. Mentry, Hugh Tevis, D. G. Schofield, L. C. Kellogg, H. L. Packard and a number of others, and the protest against the patent includes charges of bad faith on the part of the original entrymen, "dummy" entrymen, etc. It is also alleged that there has been no discovery of oil or gas on the land, and the general allegation is made that there was fraud and misrepresentation on the part of the applicants for the patent. It is further alleged that the land was withdrawn from all forms of agricultural entry September 21, 1908; that it was classified as mineral land by special agents of the Department of the Interior June 22, 1909, and that it was included in the mineral reserve by proclamation of the President, July 3, 1910.

On the part of the individuals and corporation seeking patent, it is alleged that there has been a discovery of oil and gas on the land, thus taking it out of the category of agricultural land, and there is a general denial of bad faith on the part of the defendants. It is claimed that by the acceptance of the purchase price fixed by law and the issuance of a final receipt without protest or objection, that the United States is now barred from questioning the right of the Western Minerals Company to patent; also, that the United States, having permitted possession of the land by the Western Minerals Company for more than the period of five years, and the corporation having worked such claims, is estopped from questioning the good faith of the defendants.

After the conclusion of the testimony, which hearing will require some weeks, a transcript of the evidence will be furnished Register Rocha and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office, and they will pass upon the question of whether or not, in their opinion, patent should issue to the Western Minerals Company.

The land involved is some of the richest in the Maricopa and Midway

WANT HARBOR TO BE "BONE DRY."

Church Federation Asks the Mayor and Council to Pass Law.

Calling on the Mayor and City Council to adopt an ordinance containing the emergency clause that would make the harbor district bone dry as soon as legally possible, the Church Federation of Los Angeles, through its president, Rev. W. S. Dysinger, yesterday drew up resolutions which will be presented to the city officials today.

The resolutions refer to the recent special election and the overwhelming vote for prohibition in the harbor district. The welfare and discipline of the soldiers at San Pedro are threatened, the resolution states, by the temptations of the saloon.
